City GOP Selects Merrill and Ellis

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON

"We've got to talk up Billy and Burt because if we don't we'll go right down the tubes this November," cried ex-Republican City Chairman Edward T. Feeney as he nominated what the GOP hopes will be the next mayor and alderman-at-large of Kingston.

The "Billy and Burt" Feeney was referring to at the city GOP convention Wednesday night in the Ulster County Office Building were William B. Merrill of 60 West Chester Street, for mayor, and Burt A. Ellis of 65 Lucas Avenue, for alderman-at-large.

Both nominations came as somewhat of a surprise as neither man's name had been mentioned publicly previous to last night.

Merrill, a member of Assemblyman H. Clark Bell's staff in Albany and an independent insurance investigator and a private investigator, was an unsuccessful candidate for county legislator for the city in 1971. He also ran for alderman, unsuccessfully, in the old Ninth Ward in 1967.

Merrill's wife, Nancy, and their two children, Diane and Billy and his father, William Sr., were in attendance as Merrill was nominated to the city's highest office.

Ellis ran unsuccessfully for alderman in the First Ward in 1971, losing by only eight votes. He is the president of Utility Platers Inc. on Washington Avenue and the owner of the A & W Root Beer Stand on Converse Street. Ellis was not in attendance last night; the A & W stand had its grand opening.

Feeney, seldom heard from during his two-year tenure as chairman which ended with his resignation last December, lashed out at the city committee for its apathy over the past eight years. "Nobody would get off their duffs and do anything," Feeney said. Feeney said "he worked hard" during his tenure but said that he was "appalled that people sat back and didn't care. If all the Republicans get out and work, we can win," he said.

"We have the candidates who can win," Feeney declared. "Billy and Burt can win. The Koenig record is not that great. The Koenig record is one of omission. We can win, it is up to you to get out and work hard."

Merrill, in a brief address, said, "In accepting the nomination for mayor, a number of questions have entered my mind. Where has the city I once remembered gone? Can the plight of the cities be brought back to reality? Where are the people going? How are the senior citizens benefitting from our community and most of all, what are the leaders in our community doing to solve this situation?"

Merrill then shifted to a direct attack on the incumbent (Mayor) Francis R. Koenig and his running mate Alderman-at-Large T. Robert Gallo.

"The mayor states he is cutting back on taxes and in the next breath claims he wants to use revenue sharing as an investment plan. I admonish them for not having designated committees to study the feasibility of allocating funds where they are most needed such as promoting law enforcement to cope with the increase in burglaries, narcotic crimes and motor vehicle violations."

"Where is 'the team' when children are forced to play on streets because of the lack of good playgrounds in our community? I also use the same words in reference to urban renewal—How long, Mr. Mayor, do we have to wait for visible progress? . . . as all the residents of the city know, the present administration makes no move to rectify the situation until a crisis exists. In conclusion, I draw your attention to the lack of leadership in not developing a formal plan of reapportionment."

The nominations of Merrill and Ellis were seconded by Legislator Clarence Raichle, himself a candidate for reelection.

China Frees Two Captured Pilots

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (AP) — Two U.S. military men and five civilians Friday in Hanoi. Flynn and Smith entered Hong Kong over the covered bridge spanning the Shum Chun border river after Red Cross Base today and joined 108 other POWs awaiting flights home. They appeared in good shape.

Air Force Maj. Philip E. Smith, 38, of Roodhouse, Ill., and Lt. Cmdr. Robert J. Flynn, 35, of Colorado Springs, Colo., were flown from Hong Kong where they crossed the British-Chinese border several hours earlier.

Both were shot down while flying in the Vietnam War. Smith on Sept. 20, 1965, when he strayed over China's Hainan Island, and Flynn on Aug. 21, 1967, when a North Vietnamese MIG attacked him near the Chinese border.

North Vietnam released 107 American fliers and one civilian on Wednesday, and the Viet Cong are to turn over 27 military men and five civilians Friday in Hanoi.

several days before they left Peking, the Chinese took them on a shopping expedition and they bought a variety of gifts for friends and relatives. The purchases were in 10 packages that were loaded aboard the plane, Smith, when asked what was in them, said, "They are to be surprises."

Smith's brother also made the flight to Clark Field.

En route to the Philippines, the men put on new uniforms.

Marine Maj. Chet Hanson, who made the flight with them, said they seemed in good spirits and asked about world events.

Hanson said one crew member, Lt. Col. Robert Smith, gave him name plate to Smith, saying, "I would be honored if you wear it."

Flynn was worried that his hair was too long for Navy regulations, but "we told him not to worry," Hanson said.

He had a cut that was almost like a Marine's crewcut.

Like the other POWs, Smith and Flynn were welcomed at Clark by Adm. Noel Gayler, commander-in-chief of U.S. forces in the Pacific, and Lt. Gen. William G. Moore, commander of the 13th Air Force.

Smith, the senior of the two returnees, said, "All I want to say is it's wonderful to be home." A small crowd of well-wishers clapped and cheered.

Smith and Flynn waved back, posed for photographs, then boarded a bus for the base hospital and medical checkups along with the POWs who had arrived Wednesday from Hanoi.

The men freed from North Vietnam stayed awake most of their first night outside captivity, talking ebulliently to each other and the hospital staff.

America Officially Ends Viet Involvement

SAIGON (UPI) — With a guard in chromed helmets on the stage. The stage was flanked with the flags of the countries that joined America in the Vietnam conflict. They included those of the long-departed Philippines and New Zealand, whose governments have virtually repudiated their countries' role in the Indochina fighting.

When Maj. Gen. Morgan G. Roseborough, its last commander, personally furled the Army's blue battle flag with the command's red, blue and yellow sword crest, USARV was reduced to fewer than 4,500 men.

USARV traced its origins to Feb. 8, 1942, when the U.S. Army Provisional Support Group was activated in Vietnam. It went through a series of name changes until it became U.S. Army Vietnam in July, 1965.

"Those who have served and those who serve today in this organization may be justifiably proud of its performance and its contribution to a peace with honor," Roseborough said.

An Army chaplain, in a closing prayer, said, "At this time of tenuous peace, we pray that you strengthen the bonds that brought us to this point. . . . We ask your forgiveness for the wrongs which we may have committed in our effort to reach this end."

Meanwhile, terrorist hand grenades exploded inside a crowded Buddhist pagoda near Saigon early today, killing 17 worshippers and wounding 81 others in the worst such incident since the Jan. 28 cease-fire.

South Vietnamese military spokesmen said the blasts ripped through a pagoda in the Mekong Delta hamlet of Soai Niem, 85 miles southwest of Saigon, during a religious ceremony. The victims included 81 civilians, three militiamen, three policemen and a monk.

In another reported Communist attack, South Vietnamese paratroopers were hit by more than 1,600 rounds of artillery, mortar and rocket shells on the Quang Tri northern front. Spokesmen said three troops were killed and 10 wounded.

There was no immediate report on the number of grenades hurled into the pagoda and none of the substantive discussion or agreement on the membership of the been captured, the Saigon command said.

The command reported that since the cease-fire, 319 civilians have been killed, 1,925 wounded and 987 abducted. Several hundred of those kidnaped were taken from a hamlet in the Central Highlands last month.

A spokesman said Government figures showed the Communists had violated the cease-fire 7,154 times as of noon today. He said 13,757 Communist troops had been slain and gave South Vietnamese losses as 2,668 killed, 12,729 wounded and 696 missing.

Elsewhere in Indochina, U.S. warplanes that have been flying missions almost daily against Communist positions in Cambodia struck again Wednesday and government sources in Phnom Penh said the raids were carried out at the request of the Phnom Penh government.

Cambodian troops recaptured a government outpost 18 miles from Phnom Penh on Highway 23 in action Wednesday said a military spokesman said included coalition government in Laos.

The Laotian sources told UPI correspondent Pon Chantaraj there has so far been no agreement on the membership of the government, which is to be set up under terms of the Feb. 22 Laotian truce.

In its report on the alleged cease fire violations, a Saigon spokesman said 13,662 Communists and 2,904 South Vietnamese, most of them military, have died since the Paris agreement intended to bring peace.

In neighboring Cambodia, the only Southeast Asia country with no formal truce, U.S. B52s and other warplanes carried out more raids on Communist targets. But American officials as usual gave no details beyond saying that targets included "enemy positions and supply routes throughout Cambodia."

As usual, a U.S. spokesman in Honolulu said the raids were carried out at the request of the Phnom Penh government. Cambodian troops recaptured a government outpost 18 miles from Phnom Penh on Highway 23 in action Wednesday said a military spokesman said included coalition government in Laos.

Ellenville Library Would Honor Resnick

By WADE BURKHART

ELLENVILLE

The Ellenville Public Library and Museum will have a bond issue of $375,000 placed before the voters of the Ellenville Central School District April 10 for the purpose of building a new library building in Ellenville, to be known as the Joseph Y. Resnick Memorial Building.

The building is to be named in honor of the late Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick of Ellenville, and is to be built on land donated by the Resnick family.

The land is located between Canal and Center Street, east of Childs Street.

According to Marion Dumond, the director of the library, the preliminary plans for the new building call for a one-story building of 10,000 square feet. It will have space for nearly 50,000 volumes. The Ellenville library is presently housed in the Hunt Memorial Building on Canal Street, popularly known as the W.C.T.U. Building because that is who owns it.

The Library now occupies only 2,300 square feet in the Hunt Building, into which it squeezes about 30,000 volumes, according to Mrs. Dumond. The building is to front on Center Street, with parking for 20 cars fronting on Canal. The building is designed to meet the needs of the present population of the Ellenville School District, which the library serves, with expansion into the parking area possible should the need arise.

The library governs itself independently of the school district, but its yearly budget and other finances are raised by the district. The school district has approved putting the bond issue up for vote April 10.

It is generally agreed that the present facilities are overcrowded. Mrs. Dumond said there was seating for only 16 people in the whole present library when there should be seating for 60, the aisles were only half as wide as they should be, and some children's books, because of lack of space, were stacked on shelves as high as seven feet.

The last library bond issue was put up in December of 1971, and it failed. It was for $740,000. Mrs. Dumond said the library's architects, Paver and Wild, foerster of Middletown, had come up with a totally different design, with less expensive construction. The present proposal is 14,000 square feet, and lacks a basement. The construction is to be "a standard house plan," according to Mrs. Dumond, a type that most of the contractors in the area could handle.

The library has life tenancy of its present adult section in the Hunt Building, but rents the rest of its space. That lease has expired. Mrs. Dumond said a renewal of the lease had been applied for, but not yet given.

There are about 13,000 persons in the Ellenville Central School District, and 6,000 registered borrowers at the library. Mrs. Dumond said the library is increasingly busy and is open 63 hours a week during the winter. "There isn't a slow hour," she said. There is much adult use, which she attributed to an increase in adult education.

The library was founded Oct. 3, 1893, and moved to its present quarters in 1928.

Reapportion Counter Move by County Dems

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

Ulster County Democrats, unhappy with Republican plans to put the county reapportionment issue before the people in a general election, are making a counter-move by seeking a permissive referendum this summer.

Armed with petitions, members of the Ulster County Democratic Committee are out securing the 2,600 signatures needed by April 6 in order to put the GOP plan, approved by the County Legislature in February, on a special ballot.

"November is much, much too late to give the referendum a real fair test," James T. McCordle said today. Putting the plan before the people in a general election would mean it would be clouded by other issues at that time, he suggested, adding that an earlier and separate referendum would give both parties a case on a single issue.

A permissive referendum in order, McCordle explained, if signatures representing five per cent of the voters in the last gubernatorial election are obtained throughout the county.

Such petitions must be presented at the Board of Elections by the close of the 45th day following adoption of the legislation in question.

The move for a permissive referendum was prompted, plan of their own which failed, McCordle said by statements to get Republican support, made March 11 by Republican Legislator Douglas V. ARTIST'S RENDERING OF PROPOSED LIBRARY

'Sims Reapport Plan' Endorsed By City GOP

Alderman Smith Eyes Majority Leader Position

KINGSTON of about 120 votes" they can do it. Brian Smith (R-Third Ward), minority leader of the Common Council, wants to be majority leader of the Common Council. To do that the Republicans have to elect seven alderman, three more than they have now and Smith thinks that with a "swing official "Republican Plan" for reapportionment of the aldermanic districts. Last week, Alderman Titus B. Sims (R-13th Ward) made public his plan for reapportionment, which calls for the retention of the 13 ward system. The chairman of the Common Council's Special Committee on Reapportionment, Alderman Donald E. Quick (D-Sixth Ward) is calling for an 11 ward plan. It appears however, following last night's convention, that some adjustments will have to be made to the Republican reapportionment plan, as the Republicans inadvertently nominated two candidates for the same ward, the seventh. James L. Amato of 188 Tremper Avenue, was nominated to run in Fifth Ward under the new plan, but it was found that he actually lives in the seventh. Nominated in that ward was in-

Elsewhere, things were more routine with the city committee approving the following nominations: First Ward — Robert J. Kreines of 20 Boulder Avenue; Second Ward — John C. Porsch of 17 Warren Street; Fourth Ward — Edward J. Schrowang of 273 Clinton Avenue. Schrowang is a former alderman of the old First Ward.

10th Ward — Richard J. Kelderhouse of 170 Delaware Avenue. Kelderhouse was the unsuccessful candidate for alderman in that ward in 1971; 11th Ward — Herbert G. Sutton of 475 Abeel Street. Sutton was also an unsuccessful candidate for alderman in 1971. 12th Ward — Arthur E. Barnes of 38 West Chester Street; 13th Ward — Walter S. Clark of 72 Mary's Avenue. Clark replaces Sims who is not seeking reelection after two terms in the Council.

Mrs. Bartz Legislature Nominee

City Republicans are betting on Ann T. Bartz of 56 Navara Street to become the first woman elected to the Ulster County Legislature.

Mrs. Bartz, secretary to the City Committee, was one of six candidates recommended to run for county legislature from the city at Wednesday night's city convention in the Ulster County Office Building.

The other five include incumbents Melvin Mones of 101 Wilson Avenue, a three-term legislator; Clarence C. Raichle of 202 Washington Avenue, a two-term legislator; Raymond Armater of 84 Washington Avenue, seeking reelection to his second term; John L. Machione, of 23 Janet Street, former alderman from the Second Ward, and Addison Jones, of 334 Foxhall Avenue, a former supervisor from the old Second Ward and a former county legislator.

Harry C. Kapreilian, elected in a special election last year to fill the unexpired term of the late William C. Edelmuth, chose not to run again. Increased business activities were cited as the main reason. Kapreilian nominated the six candidates. Those nominations were seconded by Walter C. Maxwell, himself an unsuccessful candidate for the legislature in 1971.

The names of the six candidates will be forwarded to the County Committee for consideration on Friday night when the County GOP meets in an unofficial convention at the Walnut Grove on Field Court.

The nominations of Mones, Raichle, and Armater were expected—all three were solid winners in 1971—but the candidates of Machione, Jones and Mrs. Bartz came as surprises. Machione had been mentioned for several other positions including mayor and alderman-at-large but especially alderman for the Second Ward. Machione was unseated after ten years in the Common Council in 1971 by Joseph McGrane and it was believed that he had every intention of attempting to regain that seat.

Jones, after losing in 1969, failed to receive his party's nomination in 1971 and it was believed that his political career was at an end.

Despite the fact that he was out of office, he remained active and was one of the leaders of a petition drive seeking the widening of Ulster Avenue Mall. Mrs. Bartz, a former vice chairman of the City Committee now serves as its secretary and as such is a member of Chairman Frank Fabbie's Executive Committee. She is one of the more active members of the city committee.

The city, under reapportionment, had its number of legislators reduced from eight to six this year. Those candidates will run at-large in the city with the top six vote getters winning election to two-year terms in the County Legislature.

Judge Elwyn Endorsed

KINGSTON At one point, only a few short weeks ago, the political fortunes of Family Court Judge Hugh R. Elwyn seemed to be ebbing low. None of the Republican leaders would commit themselves to Elwyn's renomination for another 10-year term and if that wasn't enough, at least half a dozen Ulster County attorneys were being mentioned to succeed him.

But all that seemed to be behind him, as the City Republican Committee, meeting in convention, gave its unanimous endorsement to Elwyn for reelection. The jurist, obviously moved by the acclamation, accepted the endorsement and gave his "heartfelt thanks."

But if Elwyn was happy with the city committee's endorsement of him, he was decidedly unhappy over the fact that the same committee failed to nominate a man to run for city judge.

Elwyn, a former special city court judge, said it had been "a valuable experience" for him and a judicial stepping stone. (He was appointed special city court judge in 1962 and the following year, appointed Ulster County's first family court judge. He was elected family court judge the same year.)

"It seems to me that some of our lawyers are not taking the proper view of city court judge," Elwyn said. "It is a great tragedy that we do not have a candidate. This is an important office that any lawyer should aspire to fill." The job pays $9,000 a year.

"I hope we can find a suitable candidate and not let it (city judge) go by default," Elwyn concluded. Party Chairman Frank Fabbie assured Elwyn that the party would make every effort to secure a candidate.

The resolution recommending Judge Elwyn's candidacy to the County Republican Committee which convenes tomorrow night was offered by Mrs. Barbara Rogers and seconded by John L. Machione.

received the recommendation of the City Committee for county office included:

Treasurer Fred C. DuBois, motion by Legislator Clarence Raichle, seconded by Legislator Raymond Armater;

District Attorney Francis J. Vogt, motion by Thomas Baggot, seconded by John Naccarato;

Coroner Arthur Chipp, motion by Legislator Melvin Mones, seconded by Lillian Salipatis.

The Committee on vacancies, which will include Fabbie, Edward Snyder and James DeCicco, was nominated by Alderman Brian D. Smith and Seconded by Alderman Titus B. Sims.

Miss Miles Describes Beating

Burt, Sarah in Real Life Inquest

GILA BEND, Ariz. (UPI) — An angry Burt Reynolds and a tearful Sarah Miles drew on their screen experiences when they were put on the witness stand in a real life inquest into a drug death in her motel room.

Miss Miles testified Wednesday that her business manager, David Whiting, 26, beat her up "like in a dreadful B movie" before Reynolds came to her rescue.

She spent the rest of the night in Reynolds' room, she said, and found Whiting dead in her room in the morning.

Reynolds, cross-examined about the disappearance of a pill bottle, admitted he took it out of Whiting's hand, but lost it.

"I don't know why, maybe because I've done it so many times in the movies," Reynolds said.

Miss Miles broke into tears several times during her appearance before Justice of the Peace Mulford Winsor III. She began to cry when asked how she felt about Whiting.

Reynolds stalked from the inquest after testifying and denounced local officials for turning the investigation into "a circus" and "dragging me back here to tell them something they already know."

He criticized newsmen for "filling in lots of things nobody knew anything about . . . What everybody seems to have forgotten is that a young boy is dead and that is a tragedy."

Officials indicated they were still not satisfied with the inquiry, and the inquest is awaiting results of another autopsy in Los Angeles on Whiting's body. The medical examiner here declared the death due to an overdose of sleeping pills but a lawyer for the dead man's mother demanded investigation into a scalp wound he had suffered and the disappearance of the pill bottle.

"We tried to do everything we could to get to the bottom of this, but that's all we got," said Deputy District Attorney Doug Peacock. "I wish somebody in there (the courtroom) had said what really happened. Whatever really did happen probably she is costarring in 'The Man Who Loved Cat Dancing,' off."

Asked if he was hinting that Whiting demanded to know "he thinks 'someone clobbered' where she had been. She went on when he got there, but Miss Miles had a 'goose egg' lump on her head and was bleeding from the mouth."

Then, she said, Whiting started "to bat me around."

Reynolds told her to spend the rest of the night in his room. Both deny sex was involved.

Senate Impasse Over Gray Continues

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's refusal to allow White House counsel John W. Dean to testify in person about his role in the probe of the Watergate political espionage case has put L. Patrick

Gray's nomination as FBI director in trouble.

Senate Democrats swiftly rejected Wednesday Dean's offer to provide "all necessary and relevant information" in writing to the Senate Judiciary Committee, which is considering Gray's nomination to succeed the late J. Edgar Hoover. Committee members duty to the Senate and the Dean to testify in person on grounds of executive privilege.

Only eight votes are needed to defeat Gray's nomination in the committee, and even Comments in the House of Representatives were less restrained. Rep. Paul N. McCloskey, R-Calif., who opposed Nixon in Republican presidential primaries last year, said Dean's salary should be cut off "should his refusal continue."

Action on Highway Amendment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate has voted 149-44, to crack open the highway trust fund—financed by taxes on auto on the weight and size of trucks using interstate highways.

Sen. Clifford P. Hansen, R-Wyo., has proposed that federal limits of 73,000 pounds for truck weight be eliminated in favor of allowing states to set their own standards. The federal standards would also limit truck width to 96 inches and set an 18,000 pound limit on single axle weight and 32,000 pounds on tandem axles.

When the 41,000 mile interstate highway system was authorized in 1956, the federal limits on trucks were placed on all but eight states which already had higher standards.

Paltz Realtor Files Requests

By WADE BURKHART

NEW PALTZ — As expected, New Paltz realtor Kathleen B. Scott, acting for Tri-State Realty, Inc., of Long Island, placed requests for a zoning change and water and sewer districts before the New Paltz Town Board at its meeting Wednesday night.

The board referred the requests to the planning board for recommendation.

If the requests are granted, Tri-State Realty intends to develop a "regional" shopping center, a 200-unit motel, and a two and one-half story office building on a 27-acre tract off Route 299 east of the New York State Thruway.

Part of the 27 acres is now zoned for business. Mrs. Scott is seeking to have the rest of the tract, something over 20 acres, changed from light industrial to business to allow the developer's plans to be carried out.

In letters to the town board, Mrs. Scott said the zoning change would allow a use "more compatible" with the current use of the surrounding area, and that the water and sewer districts would allow development of the rest of the industrial zone on the east side of the Thruway. Industrial development of that zone has been hampered by lack of municipal water and sewer.

Mrs. Scott, in her letters, also noted that the project would not add children to the school district, and would improve the town's tax base.

According to Mrs. Scott's letters, the developer would "bear and bond" all the costs of setting up the improvement districts, the only exception being if other residents of the area chose to join the districts.

The county and the Village of New Paltz will be formally notified of the district requests. Both these requests and that for a zoning change will require public hearing before being granted.

Dr. Robert Pyle, head of the town's Conservation Council, recommended that the town board establish a recycling center in a separate building at the town landfill site, establish a composting area, acquire a chipping machine to take care of brush left at the landfill site, and require separation of glass from garbage in the refuse brought to the landfill by commercial haulers.

Pyle recommended that the town work with the village in establishing the programs he suggested, and Village Trustee John Logan said the village would be glad to cooperate.

Pyle will put the recommendations in letter form, and the board is to study them.

The Springtown Community Association, noting the fog conditions and the winding nature of Springtown Road, asked the board to contact the county to get white lines painted on the road's edges. The board agreed to do so.

A new fee schedule was set for reproducing town documents. The former schedule of $1 per page had aroused considerable resentment. The new schedule is 25 cents a page for uncertified copies, and $1 per page for certified copies. The new schedule is retroactive to Feb. 1, and those with refunds coming may apply to the town clerk.

RHINEBECK — The Rhinebeck Village Board spent the majority of its time Tuesday evening in preparing a tentative budget estimated at $225,000 for its next fiscal year. The meeting was called to order in honor of James R. Bourne, who died Monday at his home on East Market Street. Mr. Bourne had been long active in area politics and had held various federal appointive jobs during the 1930s and 1940s. He was an unsuccessful candidate for Congress in 1950 on the Democratic ticket.

RHINEBECK — The Rhinebeck Town Board was assured Wednesday night in a letter from Assemblyman H. Clark Bell of Woodstock that plans are being effected on pollution control devices on the Hudson Cement Plant in Kingston.

Rhinebeck Environmental Commission Chairman Lester Closs said that this month, March, is supposed to be a test period for some of the paraphernalia, and that most of the $2.5 million worth of equipment is supposed to be operable by July.

The Town of Rhinebeck has been active this winter in soliciting the aid of surrounding municipalities in combatting air pollution stemming from the smokestacks on the west bank of the Hudson River.

Supervisor William Allen, on another matter, said that he has

Rhinebeck Town Board:

Pollution Control Letter Received

written State Senator Jay P. Rolison asking for state aid in correcting a bad traffic situation at the junction of Foxhollow Road and Route 9, where Hillside Fire Company equipment must exit.

He was advised from a State Department of Transportation employee in Poughkeepsie that the job would cost about $35,000, far more than the town could assume, even with the aid of the Donovan road plan.

The firemen have difficulty in exiting from Foxhollow Road because of heavy streams of traffic at times on Route 9.

A letter from Assemblyman Emeel Betros of Poughkeepsie stated that he would support the continuation of local justice courts and oppose regionalization of the state court system. He was joined in this by Assemblyman Benjamin Roosa.

A letter from County

Representative Madison Sipperly Jr. to Raymond Gardeski of the State DOT asking for a review of the traffic situation on Route 8, Astor Flats, near the new Grand Union Family Center was read by Allen.

A member of the Rhinecliff Fire Company said that the order had been given not to drive any fire equipment over the Penn Central Railroad bridge near the Rhinecliff Station to get to the old ferry dock, since the bridge is somewhat shaky.

The company has 15 ton equipment, and a study of the understructure and the roadway was asked for. It has not been determined who is responsible for the maintenance of the roadway, although the railroad is held responsible for the structure.

And bids on road material, a new truck and plow, a new tractor with attachments, and a new constable car were tabled until 8 p.m. March 19 for decisions.

24-Hour Protection Forecast

RHINEBECK — Mayor Peter F. Sipperley, in his last campaign statement prior to March 20 village elections, forecast 24-hour local police protection in the village and pledged to continue his fight against the planned unit development on River Road.

Sipperley said that more manpower will be added to the police department so that the entire 24 hours of a day can be "adequately covered."

And on the proposed Palermo development Sipperley commented, "Mr. Shackleton has stated recently that my statements were an attempt to confuse and divide the local residents and that I am very successful at it. I will state here and now that to the best of my knowledge every statement I made was true and correct and I will further accuse Mr. Shackleton of being the silent leader in an attempt to push this PUD product into reality."

Robert Shackleton is one of Sipperley's political adversaries running for mayor.

And he continued, "Mr. Shackleton's proposed program for the village consists of four generalized sentences but nothing specific."

Sipperley said "it is our desire to maintain normal growth in the village, and to insist on normal growth in the town. If high density PUD projects such as the Palermo proposal are approved it will be the death of the town and village as we have come to know and love them for these many years." He cited problems attendant to large growth.

And he recounted several items of village business now in progress or recently concluded.

A new ambulance has been ordered by the village for the Rhinebeck Fire Department to replace the present one with the funds provided through the efforts of local firemen. And the drawing up of specifications for a new aerial truck to replace the 1929 hook and ladder truck has been authorized in accordance with a request from the New York State Board of Fire Underwriters.

The street department will shortly be receiving a new garbage truck. Sipperley said special attention will be given to storm drainage in three areas where flooding has consistently occurred in recent years: Knollwood near the Chancellor Livingston School; Cramer Rd. and Orchard Street; and the circle at the end of Lorraine Dr.

Sections of the village streets to be resurfaced soon include North Parsonage Street, Mulberry Street, Beach Street, and Knollwood.

The new municipal parking lot will be completed and parking meters will be removed from the downtown area.

The water department will be

Tentative Budget at $223,000

RHINEBECK

The Rhinebeck Village Board spent the majority of its time Tuesday evening in preparing a tentative budget estimated at $225,000 for its next fiscal year.

The meeting was called to order in honor of James R. Bourne, who died Monday at his home on East Market Street. Mr. Bourne had been long active in area politics and had held various federal appointive jobs during the 1930s and 1940s. He was an unsuccessful candidate for Congress in 1950 on the Democratic ticket.

The March 20 village elections will be held in the town hall, not the village hall as last year, because of space problems. Voting hours are from 1-9 p.m.

The village board also is expected shortly to announce its intentions on spending federal revenue sharing funds. Of the approximately $28,000 received about $8,000 has been disbursed, with some $2,000 going toward the demolition of the old Community Garage for a parking lot on East Market Street.

Some funds will be placed in special accounts in an attempt to level off the tax rate in coming years, according to Mayor Peter F. Sipperley.

Jews to Observe Joyous Festival

KINGSTON, Jewish observances, as it marks the commemoration of the day about 2,500 years ago, when in ancient Persia, the arch enemy of the Jews, named Haman, met his own downfall. The emperor of Persia had appointed Haman as prime minister, and Haman wanted everyone to bow down to him. The Jew, Mordecai, refused to do so, and this gave the Jewhater an alibi for his desire to annihilate the Jewish people. Haman was nearly successful in this vile scheme of his and he had already cast lots, which in Persia is "Purim," to decide on which day to carry out his plan. However, the emperor had recently taken a new queen, a Jewess, whose name was Esther. At first Ahasuerus, the Emperor, did not know that his Queen was a Jewess, and that she was the cousin of the Jewish leader, Mordecai. But when Mordecai heard of Haman's plot, and informed the Queen, she first asked that all the Jewish people should fast and pray. Then she went to the Emperor to invite him and his prime minister, Haman, to a banquet. At the banquet she disclosed that she was of the Jewish people, the people that Haman had planned to destroy. The Emperor's anger was aroused when he heard that Haman had plotted against his Queen's people, and ordered that Haman be hung on the gallows that Haman had prepared for Mordecai. Thus, the Jewish people were saved from extinction, since they all lived in the provinces under Persian rule.

The story is told in the Book of Esther. The holiday begins with the reading of the Megillah, as the Scroll of Esther is called, in the synagogue, and during the reading, gragers or noisemakers are used whenever the name of Haman is read. Purim Balls and Carnivals are the order of the day, and special pastry called Hamantashen, which are in the shape of Haman's hat, are eaten. At Congregation Ahavath Israel, at 100 Lucas Avenue, the Megillah will be read at 7 p.m. Saturday, March 17. Following the services a carnival and Purim masquerade party will be held for all the children of the congregation and Talmud Torah. Gragers will be distributed to the children. Awards will be given for the best costumes. The Sisterhood of the congregation will prepare refreshments for the children and adults attending. Everyone may attend regardless of affiliation.

The Purim celebration at Temple Emanuel, 243 Albany Avenue will be held Sunday 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. The reading of the Megillah Scroll will begin at 11 a.m. The NFTY group will conduct a carnival of games in the social hall. Families will bring lunches. Dessert and beverage will be provided. Children will attend in costume for the costume parade. Visitors are welcome.

PURIM RECITATION — Students of the Kingston Hebrew School prepare the Story of Purim for presentation at Congregation Agudas Achim, 254 Lucas Avenue, Saturday, 7:15 p. m. Taking part in the rehearsal are (L-R) Rabbi Howard Gershon, Ben Kogon, Jonathan Polack, Cappy Weiner, Heidi Weinberger and Debby Kogon. After the student presentation, there will be reading of the Megillah. Refreshments will be served in the social hall by the Sisterhood. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Ahavath Israel

Religious services are held at Congregation Ahavath Israel, a Conservative Synagogue, 100 Lucas Avenue, every Friday 8 p.m., and every Saturday 9:30 a.m. An Oneg Shabbat follows the Friday evening service and a Kiddush the Saturday morning service.

This Friday the services will be conducted by the members of the USY, the teenage group of the congregation, and a socio-drama will take the place of the sermon. The Mourners Prayer will be offered for the following whose yahrtzeiten will be observed in the coming week: Weivel Brossman, Rose Feinberg, Benjamin Fertel, Solomon Lurie Hershoff, and Harry Silverberg.

Saturday the USY will take part in the morning services. A seminar will be held for the USY by Rabbi Harry Z. Schechtman in the afternoon. The USY will conduct the Mincha Service 5:30 p.m., followed by Shalosh Sudos.

Saturday night is the beginning of the Purim Festival. The Ma'ariv service will be held followed by the reading of the Megillah, (The Book of Esther) at 7 p.m. The USY will conduct a Havdolah service after the reading of the Megillah. A Purim masquerade party and carnival will be held at night, and all the children of the Talmud Torah have been asked to come masked and in costume. Prizes will be given.

The Talmud Torah will not meet for classes on Sunday because of the Purim holiday.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MARCH 15, 1973

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's failure to intervene directly to check the international monetary crisis last week has caused bitterness and anger in the chanceries of Western Europe.

The secret diplomatic dispatches and intelligence reports from Europe indicate that feelings against the United States haven't run so high since the end of World War II. The President's handling of the monetary mess, in the opinion of most European leaders, threatens to plunge the world into a disastrous trade war. The result, they fear, could be a world depression.

Many blame the United States, according to the Central Intelligence Agency, for triggering the greatest international monetary crisis since the 1930s. The CIA reports, for example, that West German Chancellor

Willy Brandt during a secret session with his ministers exploded: "The Americans must be taking leave of their senses!"

The cause of the crisis was a sudden flood of dollars into the exchange market. This forced European countries, particularly West Germany, to buy up dollars in order to keep their own currency stable. Twice now, these governments have been caught with their vaults full of dollars when President Nixon has devalued the dollar, thus sticking them with huge losses.

THE PROBLEM

The problem, somewhat oversimplified, is this: The dollar has been the backbone of the world monetary system for the past quarter century. Western Europe has depended upon the United States to bolster the dollar. But Washington took no firm action to halt the recent run on the dollar. The President's economic czar, Treasury Secretary George Shultz, came to a Paris monetary conference without instructions. He merely listened, with seeming detachment.

Brandt thought his attitude was senseless, but France's President Georges Pompidou considered it suspicious. The CIA reported that Pompidou, in private, was muttering darkly about U.S. economic imperialism.

As Pompidou sees it, according to the CIA, the United States is happy to dump its dollars on allied governments. The chief beneficiaries, Pompidou believes, are the great American corporations.

He suspects they have been selling dollars for European currencies, which have become more valuable as the dollar has weakened. Now he expects the American conglomerates to use this money to begin a new wave of investments in Europe.

The diplomatic repercussions have been so serious that the President's foreign policy czar, Henry Kissinger, is staffing up for a crash study of the monetary crisis. He wants to have a voice in setting monetary policy, with a view to its impact upon U.S.-European relations.

TAX DODGE AWARD — Georgia Pacific, the giant lumber and paper goods corporation, has been selected for us by Fred Harris's Tax Action Campaign as "Tax Avoider of the Week."

Georgia Pacific has been extraordinarily successful at chopping down its tax base. According to Harris, the tax laws, as they apply to most businesses, would have taken 48 per cent of Georgia Pacific's 1971 taxable profit of $117,600,000. These "timber wolves," however, paid an effective tax rate of only 11.3 per cent, through a long list of special tax exemptions.

Most startling: Profits from tree sales are treated as capital gains rather than ordinary income. Manufacturers of recycled paper, deprived of similar advantages, can't compete with Georgia Pacific's timber cutting cost cutting. Thus, the government's largest tax to Georgia Pacific makes all the talk about ecology as valuable as sawdust. Tax Action Campaign will confront the most flagrant tax evaders each week with leafletting and public demonstrations.

PRESIDENTIAL GOOF?

Many troubled diplomats at the State Department, familiar with the full details of the shooting of Ambassador Cleo Noel and deputy George Moore in Khartoum, believe they might have been saved if President Nixon had kept his mouth shut. Shortly after he issued his tough statement that "we will not pay blackmail," the two men were executed by the Black September terrorists. Previously, the kidnappers had shown signs of relenting. Those who privately criticize the President agree with his stand against blackmail. They simply felt it was unnecessary to antagonize the kidnappers by proclaiming it to the world before every effort had been made to negotiate their release.

Deputy Undersecretary William Macomber, who recently negotiated the release of another kidnapped ambassador, Clinton Knox, in Haiti, never got a chance to try his skill on the Black September terrorists who held Noel and Moore.

BANK REFORM — Two years ago, we reported that 124 members of Congress had been granted loans at special low-interest rates by the National Bank of Washington. This is the bank owned by the United Mine Workers, which was then controlled by corrupt leaders. But the mine workers have now thrown out the old crowd and installed a man from the mines, Arnold Miller, as union president. We are pleased to report that he has quietly instructed the bank to cut out special bargain loans for congressmen.

VIETNAM INFILTRATION — Intelligence reports claim the North Vietnamese are continuing to infiltrate military supplies into the South. The traffic down the Ho Chi Minh trail complex and across the demilitarized zone hasn't diminished since the cease-fire, the reports claim. They also charge that Communist guerrilla units had orders to seize strategic villages, roads and other positions immediately after the cease-fire was announced. Several small-scale attacks, indeed, were made. But most of them were beaten back by the South Vietnamese army.

Subpar Postal Service

That forecast by Sen. Gale McGee of Wyoming that it will cost 38 cents to send a letter first class 21 years from now isn't calculated to win any friends for the United States Postal Service.

Even without that gloomy prediction, it's harder to find someone saying a kind word about the postal department.

The Wyoming senator's fears were expressed at a committee hearing called to examine deterioration of postal service which has become a national headache despite claims by Postmaster General Elmer T. Klassen that "in many respects, service has improved over the past 20 months."

That statement is hard to believe. Mr. Klassen gave the committee a lot of alibis but no solutions. But the congressmen feeling the bite from their constituents, weren't in a very appreciative mood. In fact, the questioning was described quite vividly as being one of Mr. Klassen's mailmen.

The postmaster general suggested that the poor service was due to antiquated post offices and difficulties in shifting to decentralized administration, giving authority and responsibility to 85 district managers for improving service.

He maintained that 20 months, the length of time his department has been in operation, was not long enough to correct problems accumulated over decades.

In a way we sympathize with the postmaster general. He's on a hot seat. But the postal service is a business, a big business, and how well it performs affects just about every other business in the United States. If it is operating at subpar efficiency, then the logical step—as in any business—is to install persons in positions of responsibility who can raise the level of performance.

That seems to be what some of the senators had in mind.

Said Senator Ernest F. Hollings of South Carolina, "This is a miserable situation. I do not think the top postal officials know very much about running a post office." Then, warming to his task, he observed, "I'm wondering how about the competence of either yourself or your team. We've just got a plethora of mistakes."

Meanwhile, the senator from Utah asserted he had more complaints about postal service in the past six months than at any period since he came to that body in 1959. The senator from Hawaii recounted the 500 letters and telephone calls he had received since January reciting personal experiences with delayed or undelivered mail.

And the postmaster general hasn't felt the full brunt of the attack yet. A similar hearing is scheduled to start in the House.

Some of this may be old-fashioned Capitol Hill pressure. But one thing is certain. Unless the mail starts to roll faster, heads are going to roll.

Vets Remembered

They call them the "forgotten warriors," the 2.4 million or so GIs who served in Southeast Asia. The fact that so much is being done for the handful of prisoners of war who are coming home—the special airplanes, the ruffle of the flags, the generals' salutes, the homecoming speeches—has been contrasted to the fact that the millions before them had melted into American life with little notice.

These "forgotten warriors" now are being remembered. After all, they came back as individuals when their services ran out. There was no concerted celebration possible. Their thoughts were on rejoining the mainstream of American life. They had problems — physical, lack of jobs, drugs, disillusionment. There was no declaration of faith in "God and country," such as the POWs have been saying proudly.

Suddenly, concern for the veterans is being voiced in Congress. American businessmen are coming to their aid. The government and some private organizations are taking steps to reach them. The Senate has passed three bills—to provide additional medical benefits, to lower burial costs and to set up more drug and alcohol treatment programs.

Perhaps the most gratifying bonus is that unemployment among white veterans dropped from 6.6 per cent to 5.6 per cent and for black veterans from 14.5 per cent to 8.2 per cent. Both can be improved with greater educational benefits. But they do prove that veterans as a whole are being remembered—and celebrated.

Things We Stand for

WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY JR.

(The flu having blue-penciled Mr. Buckley's regular column, we offer in its place one taken from his latest book, "The Governor Listeth.")

It is increasingly difficult to work up public indignation over outrage, as long as it is committed by a labor union. In the past few years in New York City labor unions have closed down newspapers and killed off three of them. Labor unions have shut down the ships at sea, closing off passenger and freight traffic. Labor unions have grounded the airlines, or most of them, leaving passengers the option of flying either to Toronto or to Detroit, but nowhere else.

The labor unions have shut down the schools, all the schools, in violation of the laws which it is the supposed purpose of the schools to teach obedience to. The labor unions have shut down public transportation, causing something very like a closing of the entire city. The labor unions struck the taxis, and violence was inflicted on the independent operators who declined to join in the strike.

New York's severest retaliation against these strikes, some of them illegal, others merely convulsive, economically, socially, and culturally, was fifteen days in jail during the Christmas holidays for Mr. Albert Shanker, the leader of the teachers' union, during which he is said to have run out of tea and crumpets on the third day, resulting in a loss of weight of three and one-half ounces.

I remember some years ago arriving at a television station and meeting at the elevator Professor John Kenneth Galbraith, all six feet five of that eminent intelligence, who always gives the impression that he is on very temporary leave of absence from Olympus, where he holds classes on the maintenance of divine standards. We rode up the elevator and met (the late) Billy Rose, the impressario, rich, famous, a little cranky, and (if my memory serves) Dick Gregory, the amiable but extremely touchy Negro comedian. It was opening night for a new talk show hosted by David Susskind, and the gimmick was a Sony-sized television, set on a swivel, which would face whichever member of the panel the questioner, who spoke from a half mile away at Grand Central Station, was addressing his questions to.

"Now, gentlemen," Mr. Susskind explained, "there has been a jurisdictional question between the unions here as to which union has the responsibility for turning the knob at the control booth which swivels the television set toward the guest being questioned. So when a question is asked, the person the question is directed to should get up from his chair and run quickly toward the chair opposite the television, exchanging places with whoever was sitting there."

To this day, I cannot believe it! — we all received our instructions as dutifully as if we had met at the rim of Mount Sinai to receive there from our transfigured Maker eternal commandments concerning our future behavior. I dimly remember an evening spend jumping up from my chair and passing Mr. Galbraith running at sprint speed from his chair to occupy mine, diving into the empty chair, panting, and attempting a suave answer to the lady or the gentleman from Grand Central Station who little knew what heroic physical exertions were involved in situating the guest in front of the little screen.

I do solemnly believe that if the Queen of England had asked Mr. Galbraith or Mr. Rose or Mr. Gregory or myself to make such asses of ourselves in order to indulge her imperial pleasure, we'd every one of us have said, "Madam, go jump in the royal lake." But not so the labor unions. You treat them as fatalistically as a fog, a drought, a hurricane.

The other day a colleague of mine, a lady of bright disposition and middle years, went to her garage to fetch her car — only to find the garage doors closed and her car interred inside. A strike. She asked the doorman of the apartment building to raise the garage door, but he informed her that the striking garage attendants removed the sparkplugs from the machine that hoists the doors, so that there is no feasible way to lift them. I speak of "her garage" intending to be precise. She owns her apartment and, accordingly, a part of the building, which is a part of the garage, which is a part of the building. So that her car is being detained in her garage against her will, and if you think that big brave courageous law-abiding people-loving John Lindsay is going to utter one word of reproach to the labor unions, let alone dispatch a unit of policemen to wrench open that garage door and restore a citizen's rights, you are a romantic, and a patriot, and out, out of this crazy world.

The Nation

Quo Vadis John Connally

By MARTIN F. NOLAN

WASHINGTON—Among the intelligentsia of politics, the cognoscenti of finance, the know-it-alls of the media, the event is breathlessly awaited. John Connally is going to switch parties! Zowie! It's the most exciting and important event since John Lindsay switched parties.

Among voters, the reaction might appropriately be: Who cares? The former Texas governor and briefly tenured Secretary of the Treasury is undeniably a man of rare public talents. He is eloquent and persuasive, but what does he stand for?

George Christian, his faithful press aide even as he was for Connally's padrone, the late Lyndon B. Johnson, admits, for instance, that "John Connally's got no rapport with organized labor."

Since labor was supposed to be a rock upon which the church of the new Republican majority is to be built, where does Connally's strength lie? Among regular Republicans?

"I just can't imagine Republican leaders saying 'No, you can't have the nomination because you're not a purebred Republican,'" Christian told Christopher Lydon of the New York Times.

Such a view confirms an attitude among White House reporters of Christian when he held Ron Ziegler's job: an earnest fellow with no imagination.

But nonetheless, according to Lydon's report, Christian "believes Mr. Connally will have the President's blessing. 'More than anything else,' Mr. Christian said, looking ahead, 'President Nixon wants a candidate who can win.'"

One can see it now: March, 1976, amid the snows of New Hampshire, Connally is hand-shaking his way past Spiro Agnew, Bill Brock, Charles Percy, Nelson Rockefeller and Ronald Reagan.

Shining above Franconia Notch will be the image of the President and John Connally, emblazoned with the strange device "In hoc signo vinces." Maybe it will be an oil well, the sign in which Republicans shall conquer, maybe a greenback.

If the President plans no such benediction why do he and others in the Administration praise Connally so highly?

Mr. Nixon has said of his former cabinet member: "He could handle any job I can think of in this country or in the world, for that matter." Henry Kissinger told Barbara Walters on television that he respected Connally "as much as any man in public life" and thought him suited to hold any position in public life.

If John Connally had been a girl, he would have been a raging flirt, not a little Miss Roundheels. He seems to be a gleeful participant in a huge practical joke and may not have any intention of running for President at all.

Then why do the President and his friends enjoy teasing the media? Why did Elizabeths enjoy baiting the bear?

Connally entered Republican politics in December, 1970, when his Cabinet appointment was announced to glum Republican governors meeting in Sun Valley, Idaho, after the disastrous 1970 elections. Spiro Agnew didn't share the gloom then, because he had a different view of the media, one he has every right to repeat today:

"I, for one, am not ready to accept the analyses of columnists and commentators who are ideological antagonists."

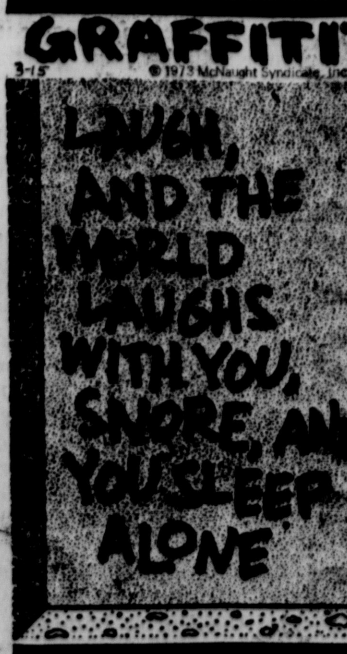

"Such changes in direction that we, the Republican establishment, decide to make as a party should result from our own analyses — not that of the opinion-makers of academe and the media. I mean, after all, where were they when we needed them?"

John Connally is now the bright child of the media. In the Republican primaries of 1976, he can expect to be an orphan.

Notebook

P. BARRECHIA

The symbolism of the siege at Wounded Knee seemingly has been lost on America at large. As of this writing, dissident Sioux were still in control of that South Dakota hamlet, but their dramatic gesture to publicize abuses heaped upon the redmen apparently has fallen flat.

Members of the American Indian Movement, both in their public statements and viewed on the television screen, appear as reasonable, rational young idealists. Their choice of Wounded Knee to inaugurate a protest undoubtedly was made to catch the eye of the nation because of the history of the town.

In many respects Wounded Knee can be described as the American Mylai of the 1890's. It was in this town that troopers of the Seventh Cavalry massacred more than 200 Indians, reportedly to avenge the deaths of General Custer and his troops at the Little Big Horn some twenty years earlier.

What better spot to seize a town, hold whites as hostages for a while and defy the federal authorities? But it all simply didn't pan out, and all that really has materialized is the spectre of bloodshed and death, and another pang in the national conscience.

Wounded Knee obviously was to be an event akin to Martin King's bus boycott in Birmingham. It was to be the spark that would light a national consciousness of wrongdoing too. Perhaps the leaders of AIM envisioned countless thousands of Americans converging on Washington; of demonstrations in the streets of our major cities; of a hastily conceived forced program of aid to the Indians.

What they've gotten instead is simply a siege that captured headlines for a few days and then was relegated to the back pages. The confrontation has been one of a standoff, with federal marshals exhibiting a patience that is the result of lessons learned from earlier demonstrations. No big benefits, complete with Hollywood stars, have been staged for the cause, no campuses have erupted in moral indignation, the ministry has been strangely silent.

And why? Is it true that we have become strangely apathetic as a nation? Is it true that the sixties have so drained our passions that there are simply none left? Possibly—

Perhaps, in the sixties, we Americans were like Don Quixote tilting at windmills, or puppydogs chasing their tails. Whatever righteousness and anger we did possess may have been dissipated on too many clamorous causes.

Winters: When he's 85, she'll only be 100.

Q: How much money do the Rothschilds have and how many of them are there? — K.E., Fort Worth, Tex.

A: The family fortune came into being after Napoleon's eclipse when the Rothschild bankers saved France by financial manipulations with her greedy allies, who demanded tremendous reparations. Today the fortune is believed to total nearly $100 billion. The Rothschilds have always been great for keeping their money in the family; hence of the 58 weddings of the founding fathers' descendants, 29 of these united first cousins. There are about 100 Rothschilds alive today, which would give them a billion apiece if they divided it all up.

Q: I know dancer Margot Fonteyn and Rudolf Nureyev are very close, but did she ever divorce her Panamanian husband? — W.M., Erie, Pa.

A: Fonteyn and Nureyev are close as a famous dancing team and as friends, but Dame Margot is completely devoted to her longtime husband, Dr. Roberto Arias, who has been paralyzed and confined to a wheelchair for years since he was the victim of an assassination attempt in Panama. The dancer has been visiting her husband in Panama and the stories of her devotion to him are extraordinary. At dinner parties, she feeds him, translates his garbled speech, and cares for him tenderly.

MIDDLE-AGE SPREAD DEPT.: Guess who is the latest famous matron to join the ranks of older women that dig younger men? Shelley Winters is going with screenwriter Richard Tate, 15 years her junior. He's 35; she's 50. Shelley not only shed those extra pounds she gained for "The Poseidon Adventure," but shed her inhibitions about her age.

Q: I saw Sid Caesar on the Today Show and he hardly said a word. He seemed paralyzed, yet when they showed the film clips from his old TV shows, he was terribly funny. What about this? E.P., New York, N.Y.

A: Sid is simply one of the shyest stars in show business. He can turn himself on and be funny only when he is around a gang of his comic peers and even then he usually has to do it in the form of assuming another character, never his own. These days Sid is obsessed with his new image. He lives, eats and talks his diet life, by its cover story on the controversial and erotic film "The Last Tango in Paris." Time expected a few irate letters. What it didn't expect were bushel baskets of them and furious cancellations of subscriptions as well as the killing of thousands of dollars worth of ads from disapproving advertisers.

Q: Well, what does the Jane Fonda bunch think now that the war is over? Have any of them relaxed? — P.E., Boston.

A: Jane and her new husband, Tom Hayden, will go on militating for changes in America's policy and the rebuilding of Southeast Asia. But one campaigner has ceased his battle. Actor Donald Sutherland, so long involved with Jane, says he now seeks a political cease-fire: "Let's just say the greatest horrors have stopped and that is terrific. I have a great lack of trust and I will wait and see, but this is not the time to be negative." Donald has been in Venice making a movie with Julie Christie.

Murder Trial Jury Selection Begins Monday

KINGSTON (vict. is accused in the beating death of Miss Thurin, a Kingston High School student, Duane Lewis, 28, indicted in the New Paltz murder of a 17-year-old Kingston girl, Colleen Thurin, last August.

District Attorney Francis J. Vogt will represent the People and Robert Ricken is counsel for the defense, County Judge Raymond J. Mino will preside. Lewis, an unemployed con-

Elmira on June 29, 1966 on a charge of murder with a knife and sexual assault. He subsequently pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of manslaughter and was sentenced in Chemung County to a prison term of five to 15 years. He was paroled in 1972 and then came to New Paltz to live.

Judge Mino previously ruled that Lewis "does not lack the capacity to understand the proceedings against him" and ordered him to stand trial following a competency hearing.

Miss Thurin was taken to Benedictine Hospital Aug. 26 following the beating which allegedly occurred early this morning. She died there, according to the autopsy, of internal injuries shortly before 1 a.m., Aug. 29.

Lewis was arrested outside his Colonial Arms apartment in New Paltz at 6:10 a.m. Aug. 29 after several people had identified him from photographs as being with Miss Thurin at Joe's East-West Bar, Rt. 299, New Paltz the night of Aug. 25. Lewis was arrested on a charge of parole violation and later charged with murder.

Lewis had been on parole since February of 1972. He had been paroled after serving over five years of his five to 15 year sentence.

Esopus Board Session ... Varied Topics Discussed

PORT EWEN Recreation, the Rondout Creek Bridge, noise pollution, (erelict buildings and a proposed atomic power plant were among varied topics discussed at Wednesday's meeting of the Esopus Town Board.

A report from the town's recreation commission noted that work is progressing on the preparation of the Esopus bathing beach. The facility, it was noted, should be ready this spring. Work is also progressing on Ross Park and the town's mini-parks for summertime use.

Supervisor George Freer noted that he has received several complaints concerning the proposed Salem Street detour route to bypass scheduled construction work on the Rondout Creek Bridge. Freer said he will ask state engineers for improved guardrail protection at the Salem Street railroad crossing, and will request better protection at certain intersections along the detour route.

At the February meeting of the town board, residents presented a petition requesting street lights at the intersection of Salem Street and Lakeview Terrace. State and county officials were informed of the request, said Freer, but have not yet responded.

Residents of Horton Lane in Port Ewen asked for relief of what they termed "noise pollution," caused by commercial trash haulers during the early morning hours. Freer said this was the fourth complaint received against the particular refuse company involved. The town's zoning ordinance will be studied, said Freer, to determine if it covers such instances.

Freer emphasized Wednesday that the town board still has received no notification that the New York State Atomic and Space Development Authority intends to construct two or more atomic power plants in portions of the Towns of Llyod and Esopus.

In other matters, the town board received several complaints about abandoned junk cars and private dumps; noted that a public hearing will be held March 21 at 8 p. m. at the County Office Building on tax relief measures for senior citizens; and again tabled a motion to appoint a woman to serve as matron for the town police force.

Ordinance Discussion

TOWN OF ROSENDALE Discussion of the accumulation of junk cars in areas of the Town of Rosendale and enforcement of the town junk car ordinance, particularly in the Tillson area, highlighted the Rosendale Town Board meeting Wednesday night.

"The situation could get out of hand unless it's checked right now," Supervisor Gerard Defelice said today.

Court action will be taken against persons with an accumulation of junk cars, Defelice said.

In other action, the board appointed Richard Heil as the new dog warden.

The township is also looking into the possibility of expanding the constabulary and providing later patrols for greater police coverage, according to the supervisor.

The meeting was adjourned in memory of Arnold Pezzino, chairman of the board of assessors, who died recently.

Schedule Change

Grades 7-12 in the Saugerties Central School District will operate on the usual full day schedule Friday. Seventh grade students will not be excused early that day because of the fourth scheduled teacher curriculum workshop, as reported earlier by district officials.

Students from Kindergarten through the sixth grade will have abbreviated schedules Friday, as detailed in Wednesday's Daily Freeman.

Sale Continues

Al's Appliance annual warehouse sale will continue through Saturday night at 85 North Front Street, rear entrance. The sale will be conducted each day through 9 p.m.

Chic Young Dies; Created 'Blondie' Series

CLEARWATER BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Murat B. "Chic" Young, creator of the comic strip "Blondie," died at Apollo Medical Center at St. Petersburg Wednesday at the age of 72.

He had been associated with King Features, Inc., since 1923 and prior to that with the Newspaper Enterprise Association (NEA) and the Bell Syndicate.

Young created "Blondie" more than 40 years ago as a gold digger trailing rich suitors. But the strip failed to catch on during the early Depression years and Young switched to a new theme when he married Blondie off to Dagwood Bumstead on Feb. 13, 1933. The strip then was off and running.

"Blondie" now appears in more than 1,500 newspapers, including The Daily Freeman, and in 16 languages.

In addition to a son, survivors include his widow, Athel; a daughter, Mrs. Jeanne O'Neil of Temple Terrace, Fla.; a brother, Lyman Young of Santa Rosa, Calif., and a sister, Mrs. Jamar Muench of Sherman Oaks, Calif.

Funeral services are scheduled for Saturday at the Episcopal Church of the Ascension in Clearwater.

Guest Speaker Is Planned

POUGHKEEPSIE Dr. Joseph Gioia, director of pathology at St. Francis Hospital in Poughkeepsie, will be the guest speaker at the March 18 meeting of the Mid-Hudson Chapter of the Ostomy Association.

The meeting will be held at St. Francis Hospital beginning at 2 p.m.

The Ostomy Association is devoted to the rehabilitation of Ostomates (persons who have had surgery because of the loss of normal bowel or bladder functions due to injury, birth defects or disease) through mutual aid, moral support, hospital visits to patients and distribution of educational material.

The Mid-Hudson chapter covers Ulster, Dutchess and Orange Counties, and is a self-supporting, non-profit organization.

Hibernian Speaker

Charles Gaffney, former Surgeon Judge and lieutenant colonel in the Army Air Force is the scheduled guest speaker for a meeting of the local Ancient Order of the Hibernians on Friday at the Alpine on Route 32 south of Kingston.

Dinner Meeting

The Red Hook Chamber of Commerce will hold a dinner meeting on Friday, March 16, at the Steak and Stuff Restaurant, Route 9. A social hour will begin at 6 p. m. Businessmen and women are invited and may bring guests. Reservations must be in by Wednesday, March 14.

Horses in Marbletown... Nagging Problem

STONE RIDGE — "Most people keep their horses sufficiently fenced," pointed out Supervisor Kenneth Smith, "but once in awhile one will get out — especially if he's a good jumper — and cause havoc in the neighborhood." So the town board has proposed a local law calling for a maximum $50 fine and/or 30 day jail term for owners who fail to keep their horses properly quartered. A public hearing will be held April 11 at 7 p. m. at the Town Hall.

Beef Decline Seen as Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — National Association of Food spokesmen for the government and food industry say a sudden decline in consumer demand for beef may be only a brief phenomenon rather than something that will have an impact on high beef prices.

A Treasury Department economist said that with the economy "doing as well as it is, the demand for beef is likely to expand in spite of the price."

The decline in demand at the consumer level was reported Wednesday in a survey by the Chains, which said 15 of 16 food chains advised they were ordering less beef last week than in previous weeks.

A spokesman said most of the chains reported their orders were off 3 to 4 per cent, which he interpreted as being significant. But he added, "it could be just a one- or two-week phenomenon... that is not going to have any appreciable effect on the wholesale market."

"The real question is whether this is going to continue," he added.

But a decrease in consumer demand had not shown up at the wholesale level where packers reported slaughtering 635,000 head of cattle last week, the largest number since the first of the year.

A spokesman for the Cost of Living Council said there was "no evidence that we have seen of a diminishing of consumer demand, as much as we might like to see it."

Wholesale prices for cattle continued at record levels with choice-grade steers selling at around $47.50 per hundredweight at Omaha, up from $32.50 as last as November.

Storm King Opposition Faces Setback

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Conservationists and others fighting Consolidated Edison's Storm King Mountain power project have suffered a serious judicial setback on the state level, but they vow to carry their battle back to Washington, D.C., where it began about 10 years ago.

The state's highest court, the Court of Appeals, Wednesday upheld a lower court ruling that the state environmental conservation commissioner had acted properly in granting a water quality certificate to Con Ed for the pumped-storage project, to be located on the west bank of the Hudson River about 40 miles north of New York City.

The unanimous decision was issued on an appeal made by conservation groups, individuals and municipalities.

After the ruling, Al Butzel, an attorney for the Scenic Hudson Preservation Conference, one of the petitioners, said action has already been taken to bring the entire Storm King issue before the Federal Power Commission (FPC) for review. He said the Army Corps of Engineers might also be asked for a complete environmental impact study of the plan.

Con Ed applied for an FPC license for Storm King in 1963. The license was lost temporarily after a court review but it was restored in 1970. The Scenic Hudson group, which in the 1960s objected that the power plant would be detrimental to the scenic beauty of the Hudson Valley, later lost a suit against the project in U.S. Supreme Court.

The project, which will cost an estimated $400 million, will consist of an upper storage reservoir connected by a tunnel to a powerhouse. Water will be pumped from the river 1,000 feet up to the reservoir at night and on weekends and then will be allowed to fall back down into the river, generating electricity.

Acquittal Is Granted

NEW HAVEN, CONN. — All evidence was in on the sonal trust that "had been set up years ago," according to the former operator of grounds that there were no up years ago," according to the basis of the charge was that Mitchell had falsely claimed as an asset the Mitchell near Chicago, which had been operated by Mitchell's parents. Thomas Mitchell now resides in Tucson, Ariz.

He was indicted by a federal grand jury on that charge in June, 1972 under Section 1014. It was subsequently determined that Mitchell Trust, comprised that he did in fact have an interest of about $380,000, was a per-interest, said Pezzo.

The Other Day

Michael Leopold

The driving course said, "In case of brake failure, pump the pedal to try to build brake pressure. Shift into a lower gear. Don't pull on the parking brake until you have slowed down; it can lock wheels and throw you into a skid. Do not shift into 'Park' or 'Reverse' until almost stopped. That could shatter your transmission. If you have no choice but to hit something, a stationary object is better than a car coming toward you. Perhaps side-swiping a line of shubbery or mound of earth will stop you with the least damage. Have brakes checked often." We hope to SERVE YOU here and in business.

Some people can really talk you to death.

Drivers who insist on facing their audience while they talk—instead of the road ahead—can be deadly bores. Even their funny stories can turn tragic in a hurry. A punch line can be killed instantly by a car that stops suddenly, an intersection, a curve in the road. By anything that gets in the way.

No one is safe with drivers like this. Neither passengers or people in other cars...nor pedestrians. If you know someone who has this deadly habit, think about the consequences.

Straighten him out or refuse to ride with him.

Your new car dealer wants to see our highways safe. And he wants to see you safe, whether you're behind the wheel or just a passenger.

So join the battle against careless talkers. Help them face their responsibilities—and the road ahead—and all their stories will have happy endings.

HURLEY LIONS SPEAKER — Dr. James R. Suris, as guest speaker, outlined the physical conditioning program that is under his guidance at the hospital.

Bell Sponsoring Legislation To Amend State Taylor Law

ALBANY — Assemblyman H. Clark Bell (R-101st Dist.) said today he is sponsoring legislation which would amend the Taylor Law to provide for compulsory binding arbitration in labor disputes between public employers and professional firefighters and policemen. The bill would not apply to civil service employee-employer bargaining negotiations in the State, other than those involving such firefighters and police. The measure, which is strongly backed by the New York State Professional Firefighters Association and the Police Conference of New York, Inc., according to Bell, would extend over a three-year experimental period and provide a final base of settlement between municipalities and firemen and policemen by referring deadlocked labor negotiations to a panel of three arbitrators appointed by the Public Employees Relations Board for final determination.

Explaining the need for the legislation, Bell said: "In the last several years, many municipalities in the state have been threatened by, or actually endured, job actions and strikes by professional firefighters and police who have not been able to obtain good-faith collective bargaining with their employers. As a result, the public safety threat to local communities has been substantial and a way must be found to terminate these disputes."

The assemblyman pointed out that presently the Taylor Law has one serious flaw in that there is no final step in the event that fact finding and collective bargaining fail to resolve labor negotiations. "This bill," declared Bell, "would add the necessary final step to the present law. The fact-finding provision of the Taylor Law have proved unworkable for professional firefighters and police who have no option to appeal when negotiations with employers reach an impasse. Since the law does not permit them to strike because of their importance to the safety and welfare of the community, they do not have recourse to any legal form of job action."

COME SEE A NEW INVENTION.

We call it a stove.

The Corning Counterange® electric range is fantastic to look at but so practical to use. There isn't a burner in sight. You cook on a beautifully smooth surface with the heating units hidden underneath. And yet this revolutionary range is so efficient it even helps you cook better than ever before.

How does it cook so precisely?
All four heating areas are thermostatically controlled, just like your oven. That means you can set the dial and know that you'll never go above the desired heat setting. A simmer stays at a simmer. There are no hot spots, no uneven heat.

What's the surface made of?
Strong durable Pyroceram®
Brand glass-ceramic.

Is it easy to clean?
When this cooking surface gets dirty you can see it... and restore it to its original beauty every time. All it takes is a damp paper towel, Corning's Cleaner-Conditioner and a bit of rubbing. Imagine, no more scrubbing messy coils and burners ever again!

What about pots and pans?
To help take the guesswork out of cooking, a starter set of Cookmates® freeze-cook-and-serve ware comes with the range. Their smooth, flat bottoms match the cooktop. You can use your own pots and pans provided they're flat-bottomed and stay flat when heated.

The Counterange slip-in model is also available. It gives your kitchen that distinctive built-in look. Come in and see the Corning range for yourself. It's bound to be love at first sight.

Proposed Zoning Ordinance

Public Hearing Set in Gardiner

GARDINER Majestic urged all interested town residents to attend the hearing, and added that persons unable to attend should put their suggestions or requests in writing, and submit them to the town board, so they can be included in the official record. The town board, in other matters, appointed a committee to develop details of the proposed "Open Space for Scenic Development Law" proposed for the township. The plan, suggested by Majestic at the February meeting of the town board, would offer tax abatements to landowners who agree to prohibit development on their property for a specified period of time. The purpose is to preserve and protect the

The town board, in other matters, appointed a committee to develop details of the proposed "Open Space for Scenic Development Law" proposed for the township. The plan, suggested by Majestic at the February meeting of the town board, would offer tax abatements to landowners who agree to prohibit development on their property for a specified period of time. The purpose is to preserve and protect the "open spaces" in the township. Committee members selected were Robert James, Michael Calderone, Mrs. Elizabeth Jones, Theodore Wright and Herb Dawson.

Dr. Clifford Hoppenstedt, a charter member of the Planning Board since 1956, was reappointed to that position Tuesday night, along with Mary Rephan and James McCloud. The reappointment of George J. Smith and the appointment of Al Becker to the Zoning Board of Review were also approved. The town board granted a variance to Frank Hedden for the location of a junkyard off Route 44-55, with the stipulation that the site be located at least 300 feet back from the center of the road.

The town board rejected all bids received for sand, gravel, and bituminous material because they were "too high." The bids will be readvertised. The town board has scheduled a work session with the Plan-

HCL Topic On Sunday Slated

KERHONKSON
Concerned Consumers of Ulster County, a Kerhonkson-based group formed to protest the high cost of food, will meet Sunday at 3 p.m. at the First Municipal Building, Pataunkunk Road, Town of Rochester.

According to Mary Million, the purpose of Sunday's meeting is to plan action relative to the group's demands that President Nixon take immediate action to "roll back" food prices. In addition, petitions will be circulated and sent to area congressional representatives urging their support.

A similar group — "Irate Housewives" — has been formed in the Kingston area, and has scheduled a meeting for Thursday, March 22, at 8 p.m. at Kingston's Municipal Auditorium.

Hinchey Sets Talk Tonight In Wallkill

GARDINER
Maurice Hinchey, 1972 Democratic candidate for the State Assembly from the 101st Assembly District, will be guest speaker at a meeting of the newly formed Town of Shawangunk Democratic Committee tonight.

The meeting will be held 8 p.m. at the cafeteria of the Middle School, Wallkill. Marc B. Fried, chairman, said the purpose of the meeting is to introduce new committee persons to members of the Democratic party in the town and to discuss plans and prospects for the upcoming elections.

The committee is looking for persons to fill vacant committee posts and for persons interested in helping the 1973 campaign.

Paltz Dems Meet at Bank

NEW PALTZ
The New Paltz Democratic Club will meet 8:30 p.m. tonight at the New Paltz Branch of the First National Bank of Highland.

The agenda will include discussion of New Paltz Village election; election of Democratic Club officers; Republican County reappointment Plan and the Edna Branigan Testimonial. Interested community members may attend.

List Speaker For Highland Nursery School

HIGHLAND
Mrs. Bonnie Stevens will be the guest speaker at the general meeting of the Highland Village Nursery School, Friday, March 16.

Mrs. Stevens, who received her BA in child study from Vassar College and her MA in the same field from Tufts, is president of the Mid-Hudson Association for the Education of Young Children. Her topic will be Intellectual Development in Young Children.

Mrs. Stevens has taught in Bennington, Vt. and at the State Campus School at the State University at New Paltz. She is the mother of two active young boys and wife of Derwin H. Stevens, assistant professor at Ulster Community College.

The meeting will begin at 8:30 p.m. at the United Methodist Church in Highland. The public may attend.

Lost Chord Club Meets Saturday In Rhinebeck

RHINEBECK
The Rip Van Winkle Lost Chord Club will meet Saturday, March 17, at 2 p.m. at the Northern Dutchess Hospital, Route 9, Rhinebeck.

George F. Meehan, president noted that the organization, established to help laryngectomees overcome problems created by the need to learn to speak again, is open to anyone who has undergone a laryngectomy.

A group speech therapy session will conclude the program. The local club, affiliated with The Empire State Laryngectomee Association, is sponsored by the speech and hearing department of St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie. Frederick Attanasio, PhD director.

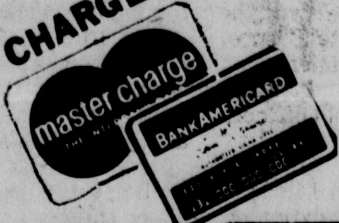

RVCS Transportation
The parent or guardian of a child residing in the Rondout Valley Central School District who desires that child to be transported during the 1973-74 school year to a private or parochial school must submit written request not later than April 1, 1973, to John D. Basten, Supervisor of Transportation, District Office, Accord, New York 12404.

Hospital Auxiliary Sporsors Series of Socials

COFFEE BREAK — Mrs. John A. McCullough (L), Mrs. John R. Shults Jr., Mrs. Louis

Salzmahn and Mrs. Seymour Semilof plan the third annual Coffee Day sponsored by the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary. On March 30 area residents and business establishments will take a "coffee break" to benefit the Auxiliary's pledge to the cardio-vascular diagnostic unit at the hospital. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Nominating Committee Named At March 8 Meeting of CDA

Mrs. Margaret Mitchell accepted chairmanship of the nominating committee at the meeting of the Catholic Daughters of America, Court Santa Maria, No. 164, held on March 8, at the Knights of Columbus Hall. She will be assisted by Antoinette Brocco, Veronica Hanley, Helen Van Steenberg, and Marie Dobkins. Election of officers will take place in May. A contribution of $10 was made to the Kingston Library. Invitations were extended from Court Patricia at Newburgh and Court Irenita, Poughkeepsie to attend their forthcoming anniversaries. Members will meet at the Knights of Columbus Hall on March 22nd to roll bandages for cancer work. The Rev. Msgr. Thomas E. Mullins, chaplain, spoke to members on the meaning of Lent, and St. Patrick's Day and St. Joseph's Day. Refreshments were served by Betty Liguori, Rose Turck, Mary DuBois and Alice Krom.

The table was arranged in a St. Patrick's Day motif. The next business meeting will be held on April 12th at which time representatives of the Xavier Society for the Blind of the National Catholic Press and Library for the Visually Handicapped of New York City will present a program on their work with the blind. Members and friends are invited to be present for this worthwhile program.

Antique, Craft Show Slated This Saturday in West Hurley

SECOND ANNUAL SHOW — The Parent-Teachers Association for the West Hurley School is sponsoring its second annual Antique and Craft Show on Saturday, March 17. The show will be held in the West Hurley firehouse from 10 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. One of the hobbyists will be Mrs. Carol Planthaber of West Hurley, who holds classes on ceramics in her home. During the show, she will demonstrate the techniques of pouring molds and painting them. Public is invited. (Freeman photo by Powell)

Austrian Program Scheduled

The Hudson Valley Philharmonic will present an Austrian program featuring Mieczyslaw Horowitz, pianist, at 8:30 p. m. Monday, Mar. 19, at Kingston Community Theatre. Other performances will be given Saturday, Mar. 17, at Mt. St. Mary College in Newburgh, and Sunday, Mar. 18, at Poughkeepsie High School.

Many hundreds of reviews have been written about Horowitz, yet none defines his artistry better than the San Juan Star: "He plays with the innocence of a little boy and the wisdom of a sage." These words also draw the sum total of his pianistic career; he started out as a Wunderkind and in his own quiet way reached the summit — one of the great masters of the music world.

The program will consist of Schubert's "Fieriabras" Overture; Mozart's Piano Concerto in C Major K. 415; and Haydn's Symphony No. 96.

Tickets will be available at the door.

Ulster Academy Sponsors Successful Buffet and Dance

Ulster Academy held an International Buffet and Dance Saturday, Mar. 10, at the Academy in celebration of the first European Exchange Student Program.

The event was the first fund-raising project of the Parents' Association since Mrs. Thomas Wickman was named chairman. All proceeds from the event will go towards the new building facilities.

Committees included Mrs. Robert Cline, invitations; Mrs. George Hutton, Mrs. William Ganter, food; Mr. and Mrs. Nick Buhalis, and Mrs. Thomas Wickman, cocktail party; Mr. and Mrs. Milton

Paige, wine. Others who assisted were Max Brugman, Ray Garraghan and Mr. and Mrs. Phil Sullivan. Students who participated included Tad Wise, Lisa Cline, and Meg Vendenberg.

Before dinner, cocktails and hors d'oeuvres were served in the library. The buffet menu included Polish Stuffed Cabbage, French Poulet Saute au Citron, Mexican Mole de Gusa Jocote, Lasagna, Armenian Salad, and appropriate wines. Afterwards there was dancing to the music of Howard Rust Trio in the Commons Room which was decorated like a European cafe.

Approximately 180 persons were in attendance.

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Ten years ago, when I was a single man, I was doing some work in the home of a very attractive woman. (Painting and decorating.) She was very friendly and always went around in a thin robe and nothing underneath. Over coffee one morning she told me how unhappy she was (sexually) with her husband. It turned out we had an affair which lasted about two months in the afternoons when her husband was working and her kids were in school. It was no big love affair, and I never saw her again.

I made the big mistake of bragging about it to a few of her neighbors, and one of them must have told her husband after all these years because he tracked me down and called up my wife and told her everything. Now my wife is giving me a hard time, even though we weren't married (but were going together) when all this took place.

Maybe it's a coincidence, but last week two strange men jumped me and gave me a terrible beating.

Abby, I can't understand why this man would want to make my life so miserable for something that happened ten years ago. Can you?

DEAR ABBY: When I have a dinner party I do as much as possible in advance because I have no help and I like to spend the cocktail hour with my guests.

What gets me is the well-meaning guest who surprises me with something for my dinner to "help out." It is invariably something which requires a lot of fooling with, like a mold for which I have to hunt up a suitable serving platter, and then unmold it, or a loaf of unsliced French bread from which I am supposed to make garlic bread.

I hate to sound like an ingrate, but please, Abby, tell these people who are thoughtlessly thoughtful that if they want to bring something to please bring it ready to serve.

BOLLOXED IN BOTHELL DEAR BOLLOXED: Will do. And that includes sweet corn, husks and all, freshly picked from "our" garden. Or worse yet, home grown spinach.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter was seriously ill with tuberculosis when she was 17 years old. She made a complete recovery and thank God, she is a healthy girl now. Her boy friend stood by her and loves her all the more, but his mother is trying to break them up. She insists that once a person has tuberculosis they are never cured.

These two young people are very much in love and plan to marry one day, but the boy's mother is giving them a hard time.

My daughter's doctor told me that she was cured. How can I get this message across to that boy's mother?

DEAR MOM: I suppose you could have the doctor put it in writing. If the boy's mother wants to break up the romance she will have to come up with another excuse. The one she is using isn't valid.

DEAR ABBY: What does a normal, healthy 34-year-old male with a wife and family say to his parents when they send him a PURSE as a gift, with the excuse that it is a very useful man's item in a country they just visited? Sign me NOT A GAY LIBBER.

DEAR NOT: If he is indeed a "normal, healthy 34-year-old male" etc. he says, "Thanks!"

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Folks:

Some time ago I shared with you a hint from a lady who said that she did not have personalized checks for her checking account. She said she pasted a return address label under the signature line on her check.

I have recently had letters from two women, both bank employees, who say this is bad practice.

Helen Darby says to put that address label, if the lady feels she must use it, in the upper left corner of the check.

The other lady, Mrs. Doris Kravitz, said "I 'proof' checks. We need the space under the signature for magnetic encoding of the amount of the check to go through our computers for rapid 'bookkeeping' because of the numerous checking accounts."

So, for our own protection, let's leave that lower right corner area clear for the use of the bank.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Sometime ago you shared a letter from a lady telling about a "baby shower by mail" she had for a mother-to-be who was new to that city.

I wanted to have a shower for a young couple who were getting married, but were away at school, so I had what I called a "Mother-in-Law" party.

Everyone brought her unwrapped gift, along with pretty paper and ribbon, in a paper bag. The "mother-in-law-to-be" opened each gift bag and showed the gift. Before the party was over, everyone wrapped her gift for the couple.

Later, the future mother-in-law went to the out-of-town wedding. She took all our gifts to the couple.

Irene Sladewski

Dear Heloise:

If you don't like body shirts, cut the bottom off and for the top, allow enough for a hem and you have a nice top.

To save wasting material, use some elastic and put it in the top of the part you cut off and you have a nice pair of bikini panties!

THIS COLUMN is written for you . . . the housewife and homemaker. If you have a hint or a problem write to Heloise in care of this newspaper. Because of the tremendous volume of mail, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will, however, answer your questions in her column whenever possible.

Sacred Folk Music Program

An original ecumenical worship service, "The Heritage of American Sacred Folk Music — an Experience in Worship," will be heard at the Unitarian Fellowship of Ulster Co. meeting on Sunday, March 18 at 10:30 a.m. Lyn Burnstine of Hyde Park will present a program she has written, drawing from the shape-note hymn tradition, southern black tradition, the Shaker tradition, and songs of contemporary social comment.

In the last five years, Mrs. Burnstine has given musical programs in more than 35 churches in New York, Vermont and Connecticut. This program was part of the sixth annual Fox Hollow Festival of Traditional Music and Art in Petersburg, N.Y.

Lyn Burnstine has a background of classical and church-music training, but has concentrated on the study and performance of American traditional folk music. She uses various accompanying instruments such as the autoharp, dulcimer, kalimba, and psaltery. She is a member of a professional folk trio, "The Merry Wives" who have sung more than 150 concerts and in-school programs in the Hudson Valley. She is also actively involved in running the Family Sing—Coffeehouse which brings good traditional performers to Poughkeepsie three nights a month.

She was a charter member of the Unitarian Fellowship of Ulster County which meets in the YMCA, 209 Clinton Avenue, Kingston.

LUCKY CASSEROLE combines cheese meat balls, tomato-sauced potatoes and green beans to work some flavor magic on your family.

Tuna-Rice Skillet Is Budget Helper

BY AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA FOOD EDITOR

A money-stretching dish (if peanuts instead of cashews are used) has a base of brown rice and tuna which will please health food followers. It also is a flavorful dish that requires little time in preparation.

Tuna-Brown Rice Skillet

Two and one-half cups cooked brown rice
One-fourth cup butter or margarine
Two ribs celery, sliced
One medium green pepper, cut in strips
One medium onion, sliced
One cup sliced mushrooms
One-fourth cup broken cashews or peanuts
One teaspoon salt
One-fourth teaspoon pepper

One-fourth teaspoon dried leaf thyme
One tablespoon soy sauce
Two cans (six and one-half or seven ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil Prepare rice according to package directions; set aside. Melt butter over medium heat in a large skillet. Add vegetables, mushrooms and cashews or peanuts. Cook, stirring occasionally, until vegetables are crisp-tender, three to five minutes. Add salt, pepper, thyme and soy sauce; mix well. Stir in cooked rice and tuna. Heat to serving temperature, stirring occasionally. Transfer to serving dish. Makes four servings.

Bring Meat Ball Meal Out of the Ordinary

From the beginning you knew this day would be different. At the top of the morning, you rolled up a delicious new meat ball idea. Now as the dinner hour fast approaches you've discovered a way to bring the whole meat ball meal out of the ordinary.

You didn't have to catch that leprechaun sitting on the potatoes to know that this Lucky Casserole combines ordinary ingredients in a treasure of good flavor and nutrition.

What is the trick to the good taste of Lucky Casserole? The meat balls are cheese with Cheddar, made moist and firm with milk and egg, then seasoned with onion. But the meat balls only hint at the wealth of flavor that waits below in the lucky layers. Underneath a blanket of sage-tomato sauce is the golden goodness of melted Cheddar cheese. The cheese serves to sharpen the appetite for the next discovery — luscious green beans. The treasure hunt ends where it began, with the leprechaun's potatoes—seasoned and sliced—completing Lucky Casserole with stick-to-the-ribs nourishment and typically Irish flavor.

One package (10 oz.) green beans, thawed

One can (15 oz.) tomato sauce

One-half teaspoon rubbed sage

In a bowl lightly combine beef, three-quarters cup cheese, bread crumbs, milk, onion and egg. Shape into twenty-four one and one-half inch balls. Combine flour, salt and pepper. In a two-quart rectangular baking dish alternate layers of potatoes, beans and remaining three-quarter cup cheese, sprinkling flour mixture on each layer. Combine tomato sauce and sage; pour one-half over potatoes. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven, 20 minutes. Arrange meat balls over potatoes; pour over remaining sauce. Return to oven to bake for an additional 45 minutes or until potatoes are tender. Makes six servings.

EATING HABITS FOR THE REST OF YOUR LIFE

Horace Mann, a noted American educator wrote, "Habit is a cable; we weave a thread of it every day and at last we cannot break it." The habit of good eating, when established in babyhood and on through adolescence, is one of the most cherished gifts that parents can give to a child, says Louise K. Breitung, Extension Home Economist.

The small child mimics his parents in attitudes toward food served. Start out by setting an example at breakfast. The young child is a keen observer of Dad's quick morning coffee and "Sorry, I don't have time for more this morning." Learning to like a variety of food begins in babyhood, with serving a variety of pureed food and graduating from these to regular grown-up food prepared in a variety of ways.

Making meals a family sit-down affair develops the habit of regular hours for meals, not just for the kids, but for Mom and Dad, too. Food that looks attractive is usually eaten quickly. A garnish of parsley, paprika or a bright orange or lemon wedge or cartwheel will give left-over hash or turkey pizzaz.

So many mothers complain that their youngsters do not like and will not eat vegetables. Here are a few tips that will develop the vegetable habit:

● Serve only a teaspoon or tablespoon of a new vegetable for the first time. This amount is a taste tease and won't overwhelm.

● Don't overcook vegetables. Most youngsters like them crisp and chewy. Let them pick pieces up as finger food. It's better to establish a liking for a new food first. Good manners will follow.

● Combine bite-size pieces of orange with vegetables. They go together beautifully and provide color contrast as well as flavor contrast. Add orange pieces to cooked cabbage, cabbage slaw, zucchini, and fresh green salads. By combining favorite oranges with new or non-favorite vegetables, there is a pleasant association.

● Tangerines, too, can combine with vegetables. They are so easy to peel and the segments are so easy to separate. Make delightful flower or face designs over orange cheese salad or peas. What child can resist a face design looking up from his plate with a big tangerine smile?

Director of 'I am a Camera'; Play Starts Final Week Friday

Much of the success of Performing Arts of Woodstock's current production of John van Druten's play, I AM A CAMERA, can be credited to director Bill Skilling, whose way with actors and a good script results in an exciting evening of theatre. Mr. Skilling is program director of radio station WGHQ.

In its third and final week at Woodstock's Town Hall, I AM A CAMERA can be seen this Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Curtain on Friday and Saturday is at 8:30 p.m.; Sunday the play begins at 7:30 p.m.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. John Le Fever of West Hurley or Mrs. Stephen Callahan in Kingston. This production was partially funded by a grant from The New York State Council on the Arts.

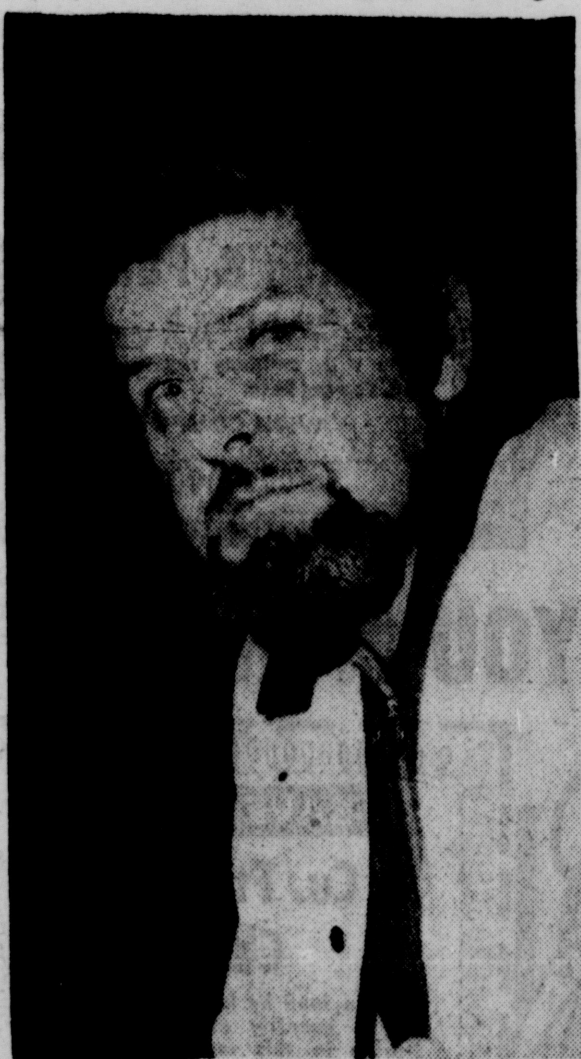

Robin Smith RVHS Winner, Homemaker Award

The 1973 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow at Rondout Valley High School is Robin L. Smith of Wawarsing, Principal James Vertucci has announced. Robin was selected on the basis of her score on a written knowledge and aptitude examination taken by senior boys and girls on December 5, 1972. She will receive a specially designed award from General Mills, sponsor of the annual search, and is also eligible for state and national honors.

Along with other New York State winners, Robin will now be considered for the State Homemaker of Tomorrow award. Each state winner receives a $1,500 college scholarship, and the winner's school is presented with a 20-volume reference set, "The Annals of America," by Encyclopedia Britannica. The second-ranking student in each state is awarded a $500 scholarship.

All state winners and their faculty advisors will gather in Washington, D.C., in late April where they will be guests for an expense-paid tour of the capital and of Colonial Williamsburg. At the conclusion of the tour the All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow will be announced, and three runners-up. The four national winners will have their scholarship grants increased to $5,000, $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000.

Mason Scores Judicial Leniency

By LYNN MULVANEY

ALBANY Acknowledging that the Judicial Code of Ethics gives judges a certain amount of immunity from criticism, State Sen. Edwyn E. Mason (R-48th Dist.) told The Freeman today that regardless, he "cannot remain silent any longer concerning judges who give aid and comfort to drug pushers."

prompted, he said, by the recent Appellate Division ruling which reversed a decision by Ulster County Judge Raymond J. Mino who had ruled that evidence allegedly seized in a police raid was inadmissible because of a faulty search warrant.

Mason charged Judge Mino and some other judges with "devoting their full time efforts to protecting the criminal element and making life difficult for law enforcement officers."

In the case to which Mason referred, Judge Mino ruled that probable cause for the issuance of a warrant for the arrest of two men in New Paltz, found to be in alleged possession of a quantity of marijuana, hashish, LSD, other pills and related implements, had not been established.

Mason, commenting on the cache of narcotics found by police, called Judge Mino's decision "a ridiculous technicality and have had a detrimental affect on law enforcement officers who were doing their job."

Mason recalled that President Nixon this week "denounced soft-headed judges", and that Nixon reflects the views of the public which is becoming increasingly dissatisfied with our court system.

The senator, who represents western Ulster County and several other counties, said that the job of a judge is to provide fairness, protect the innocent and punish the guilty, "but some of our judges don't seem to know right from wrong and I wonder what side they are on."

HONOR VIETNAM VETERAN WEEK — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is shown signing into law legislation introduced by State Sen. Richard E. Schermerhorn (R-40th Dist.), standing second right, designating the week of March 5-9 as Honor Vietnam Veterans Week. (L) Alfonso Sellet, chairman of Honor the Vietnam Veteran; Clarence Terpening of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Newburgh; Joseph Hasset, commander, Disabled Veterans, Kingston; Gov. Rockefeller, Schermerhorn and Orange County Assemblyman Louis Ingrassia.

Off-Track Repeal Sought

ALBANY Legislation to repeal New York State's Off-Track Betting Law and the New York City Off-Track Corporation Law is being called for by State Sen. Edwyn E. Mason (R-48th Dist.) and Assemblyman Leonard Bersani (R-118th Dist.).

Saying the need for the Mason-Bersani bill is impelling, Mason stated that statistics supporting the need for the bill are "devastating".

— In 1972 pari-mutuel betting at Aqueduct, Belmont, Roosevelt and Yonkers tracks declined by $141,094 resulting in loss of pari-mutuel revenue to the state alone of more than $15 million.

— Track revenue declined by $14.8 million which was far in excess of the revenues derived from OTB betting.

—Against this huge state and track revenue loss, the Arthur Young Company report as of June 30, 1972, disclosed that only $5 million has been paid to the city and the state despite what Mason calls highly publicized releases by OTB to the contrary.

—Mason said that even this $5 million return to the state and the city is offset by the investment of OTB of $8.6 million in the CSC computer operation which must be written off because of the designation of Am-Tote to operate the OTB computer system.

—As of Nov. 18, 1972, the latest available report of OTB, an additional $10.8 million has claimed to have been paid by OTB to the city and state.

is added to the $5 million payment made in the first fiscal year, these aggregate returns to the state and city are still less than the losses to the state and the tracks.

—Mason said that "actually OTB is the most vicious type of regressive taxation imaginable — it taxes the poor without raising appreciable revenue for government. It has no social or economic value — it is an evil which should be eradicated if the industry which has been contributing $180 million annually to the state is to be preserved," he said.

Contending that OTB has created a loss of jobs, especially off-track auxiliary services, Mason said that the job guarantees from OTB has resulted in healthy men sitting around as "observers." This is demoralizing and degrading, he said. "Before this condition deteriorates further and great labor unrest results, the Legislature should act to keep its commitment that was made at the time of the passage of OTB: that if legalization of OTB should result in 'killing the goose that laid the golden egg' that the Legislature should act to rectify it."

X-Rated Previews... Schermerhorn Opposed

ALBANY Previewing of X-rated movies at a time when a theatre is exhibiting non-x-rated movies, is being opposed by State Sen. Richard E. Schermerhorn (R-40th Dist.) who has filed a bill to prevent such exhibition and to provide for a 30-day suspension of the theater operator's license if the law is violated.

Schermerhorn also calls for revocation of the theater operator's license for subsequent violations.

The senator said that the "purpose of the designation of a movie as x-rated by the Motion Picture Association of America is to alert potential movie goers that such a movie contains explicit scenes of nudity and sexuality."

"This bill in no way infringes on the right of movie goers who wish to see such x-rated films. However," Schermerhorn said, "the public has the right to regulate the display of material that offends the moral sensibilities of many citizens and interferes with their right of privacy when they chose to attend non-x-rated movies."

Schermerhorn said that since the theater operator retains his right to advertise his x-rated movies in the mass media and also retains his right to show such material during the regular showing of x-rated movies — subject only to the laws of obscenity — thus forbidding the showing of x-rated movies to captive, unwilling "audiences" does not infringe upon the theater owners First Amendment rights."

MASS REBOUNDING — A massive grab for a rebound occurred when Ulster's Steve Richardson (32) and Marty Prendergast (22) Connie White (25) and Melvin Weldon (10) of Mercer Community College all take to the air. Mercer defeated Ulster, 75-62 in the second round of the NJCAA tournament in Hutchinson, Kan., Wednesday. (UPI)

Our Senators Blew It

Mercer Rolls 75-62...

By IRA FUSFELD

HUTCHINSON, Kan.—Mike Perry leaned up against the locker room door Wednesday night and tried to explain Ulster County Community College's disappointing 75-62 defeat at the hands of Mercer, N.J., one which dropped the Senators into the losers' bracket of the NJCAA basketball tournament.

"We didn't get a game out of our three stars," Perry offered. Why? I can't understand it. . . I just don't know."

For whatever the reason, it was a bitter pill to swallow. Ulster wanted this game badly and was confident that it would get it. But instead the Senators came up empty and now must face Dalton, Ga., at 4:30 EST today with the realization that one more loss means a return trip to New York.

"Henry Nixon took how many shots tonight?" Perry asked no one in particular. "He didn't even look to take shots. We can't win a ballgame when Henry Nixon gets six points."

"Jackie Knowles. . . I don't know what he was trying to prove," Perry continued. "As far as I can see, he blew his All-American possibilities and he deserves to blow it because he didn't perform. He was in the limelight tonight and I think he blew it unless he comes up with a super unbelievable performance tomorrow."

"It was just one of those nights," said Knowles. "Henry wasn't hitting, of course I wasn't hitting, and (Coleman) Link wasn't hitting."

"I just wasn't right," Nixon declared. "I know it as soon as I stepped on the court."

The sophomore trio — Knowles, Nixon, and Link — averaging a combined 49 points per game over the season, totalled only 18 in this one. Each had had bad nights before, but this was the first time they all were sour at once.

Yet despite a first half which saw Ulster score 34 points, half by Ike Chestnut and none by Nixon and Knowles, the Senators were down by only four points and very much in position to pull it out and advance to the tourney's Friday night semi-final.

"At halftime I really felt we were going to win the ballgame," Perry recalled. "I had Nixon, Knowles, and Link sitting on the bench and we were not going to have anyone in foul trouble. I thought we were in good shape. All I had to do was psyche them up and make them feel we were in the ballgame."

Instead, Mercer slowly extended its intermission lead to 47-42, then held the Senators scoreless for over six minutes to build an unsurmountable 61-46 margin.

"I credit Mercer's victory to their defense, the way they adjusted and matched up to our zone offense, and to the fact that they missed only six shots in the second half," Perry said.

The field goal department provided the startling statistics. Ulster, which hit better than 50 percent in beating Platte Tuesday, managed to connect on 27 of 79 tries for 35 percent. Mercer was a more realistic 46 per cent. The Vikings got a solid job from their All-American hopeful Melvin Weldon (17 points), and from inside men Jerry Young and Connie White. The Senators didn't get much of anything from anyone except Chestnut (25 points) and Bobby Miller, who was tough again in the middle.

Mercer led in the game 8-0. It wasn't until nearly three minutes had passed that Steve Richardson put Ulster on the board with a tap in of a Chestnut shot. With Ike providing the firepower and Link tossing in a beauty from up close, UCCC managed to tie the game at 16 midway through the first half.

But the Senators just weren't right. Knowles wasn't penetrating and Nixon wasn't shooting. Link was inconsistent and Chestnut, despite his offense prowess, was throwing the ball away when he wasn't shooting.

Mercer, playing near flawless ball, rebuilt a 10-point edge, 28-18, and Perry went to his bench. With 6:49 to go, the Ulster lineup consisted of Chestnut, Richardson, Miller, Eddie Younger, and Lenoris Clemons, all freshmen.

"Well it looked to me like Henry wasn't going to the boards," Perry said when asked why he went with the youngsters at such a crucial stage of an important game, "Jackie wasn't having a decent game so I figured maybe if I sat him down like I did once before he'd come around. Link was not responding. When he missed his shots he got all upset and frustrated and didn't play very good on the other end."

"I felt I had nothing to lose going with the other guys."

It was with that five, and later Val Williams in place of Clemons, that UCCC cut into the lead and left the floor down by only four. But the second half, with the starters back in, did not go as Perry hoped.

Mercer coach Howie Landa had plenty of reasons for his team's win.

"My kids played good defense. They talk, they work together as a team. Weldon is a helluva player and if there's anyone who deserves All-American he does. . . he showed it tonight."

"Ulster felt they had a game taken away from them when we beat them in our tournament," he added. "We had to prove that we were a better club. I think we did. I don't think anyone of them or him (Perry) can say that Mercer is not a better club."

Thus Ulster, which wanted to prove just the opposite, and thought that it could, must fight for survival against Dalton. All Dalton did Wednesday was take highly regarded Vincennes right down to the wire before losing, 81-76.

There will be an Eastern team in the semi-finals. . . but it will be Mercer, not Ulster. The Senators can finish fourth if they win two straight or seventh if they win, then lose. But they can also board a flight for home if they fail again this afternoon.

TOURNEY TALK—Basketball crazy Hutchinson fans jammed the Sports Arena Wednesday afternoon to see their local heroes crush Burlington, Iowa, 107-88, behind 26 points from Queens' Rudy Jackson. The Dragons will face North Greenville, S.C. in a quarter-final match. The latter shocked South Brevard, Fla., 79-74. . . Southern Idaho eliminated Platte, 70-67, on a last ditch shot by Rick Sobers in a losers' bracket pairing. . . Today, it's Three Rivers vs. McLennan; Burlington vs. Brevard; Ulster against Dalton; Dixie meeting Paducah; Hutch vs. North Greenville; and Olney vs. Bacone. The last two are second round games.

Meyers Leads

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI) — Nelson Burton Jr. of St. Louis, Norm Meyers of St. Louis, a 39-year-old veteran who captured his only title 10 years ago, led a record field of 216 bowlers into the final qualifying round today. . . the defending champion of the $80,000 Professional who scorched the lanes on the Bowlers Association Ebonite 1972 tour but has won less than $1,000 so far this year, was in 112th place with 2,415.

Meyers emerged from 29th place after the first round to take command of the pack ever in a PBA event, were Wednesday night with a 12-2 record and a 2,747. . . today's six-game block, with the semifinals moving into N.Y., trying for his first PBA championship, was just 13 pins back with 2,734. In third was Jim Godman of Lorain, Ohio, with 2,712.

Steve Buell of Salt Lake City was fourth with 2,701 and Jimmie Davis of Minneapolis was fifth with 2,699.

60th Celtic Win; 76ers' 67th Loss

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Celtics won their 60th game of the National Basketball Association season on Wednesday night and the Philadelphia 76ers lost their 67th.

The Celtics can tie the NBA record for victories set by the Los Angeles Lakers last season with 69 by winning their remaining games. All the 76ers have to do to set an NBA record for most losses in one season is to lose one game out of their remaining nine.

The Celtics beat the Baltimore Bullets 111-107 and the 76ers fell to the Phoenix Suns 120-114.

In the only other NBA game, Los Angeles beat Detroit 121-112.

In the American Basketball Association Wednesday, San Diego clipped the new York Nets 108-98, Indiana beat Utah 113-106 and Virginia dumped Dallas 125-114.

John Havlicek's four points in the final 15 seconds was the margin of victory for the Celtics. Havlicek made a fall away jump shot with two defenders bounding him with 15 seconds remaining to break a 107-107 tie.

Jo-Jo White tied Havlicek for scoring honors with 27 including some clutch baskets in the fourth period. The 76ers overcame a 19-point deficit late in the third quarter and tied their game with the Suns at 96 all. The lead changed hands seven times from that point on.

Charlie Scott, who finished the night with 32 points, put the Suns in the lead for good with just over a minute to play. Neal Walk chipped in 29 points for Phoenix.

Clutch shooting and passing by Jerry West and Jim McMillan in the fourth period carried Los Angeles over the Detroit Pistons.

All five Laker starters scored at least 18 points, led by Gail Goodrich with 27 and McMillan with 24. Wilt Chamberlain followed with 22. Bill Bridges hit 20 and West had 18 points and 17 assists.

The San Diego Conquistadors remained in the thick of the battle for a playoff spot in the ABA's West Division with a 10 point win over the Nets.

Simmie Hill led the way for San Diego with 28 points and Chuck Williams added 25. George Carter paced the Nets with 22 points while Billy Paultz had 18 points and 16 rebounds.

The Indiana Pacers scored their eighth straight ABA victory at the expense of the Utah Stars.

George McGinnis didn't let an injured foot bother him as he entered the game in the second quarter and scored 23 points in the game. The Pacers had fallen behind by as many as 13 points but McGinnis scored 12 third period points to bring the Pacers back into the game. The Pacer's clinched the victory with four free throws by Gus Johnson in the final 34 seconds.

Julius Erving's 10 points in the final quarter, giving him 44 for the game, led the Virginia Squires over the Dallas Chaparrals.

games, 54-50, over the 22-5 Ohioans.

Gilbert Williams, who scored all 12 of his points in the second half, led the charge and hit the bucket that gave the Tigers the lead for good at 46-45 with 4:25 left. Akron's Harvey Glover topped all scorers with 25 points, while Leonard Robinson was high for the Tennessee club with 17.

Brockport State of New York outlasted California's Riverside, 79-70, in the opener. Brockport scored the game's last 10 points to overcome a one-point deficit and advance to the semi-final round Thursday.

Ron Gilliam led the win with 30 points as Brockport ran its string to 24-4. Riverside, which wound up 25-5, was topped by Al Erby with 18.

UCLA Opens Fire

By United Press International

UCLA, the kingly of college basketball, opens a bid for an NCAA title tonight and if those people who know the Las Vegas oddsmakers are right, step one should be a breeze.

The Bruins, who surged through the season unbeaten and ran their record winning streak to 71 games, have been listed as 23-point favorites over Arizona State in the Western Regional semifinals. Much of the credit for that huge spread must go to the fact that the regionals are being held at Pauley Pavilion in Los Angeles, UCLA's home court.

UCLA, the Pacific 8 champion, had a bye in opening collegiate ball at Indiana, round activity while Arizona carried the ball only three State, the Western Athletic times last year and gained 11 Conference representative yards.

overran at-large choice Oklahoma City.

Despite the big spread, UCLA Coach John Wooden isn't taking the Sun Devils lightly. "We know what Arizona State can do," Wooden said. "We're not underestimating them."

In the other Western semifinal, Long Beach State, pointing all year toward a rematch with UCLA, takes on the University of San Francisco. Long Beach had to put on a strong closing rush to beat Weber State in the opening round while San Francisco drew a bye.

In the other regionals, Syracuse takes on Maryland and Pennsylvania meets Providence in the Easterns at Charlotte, N.C.; Marquette plays Indiana and Austin Peay tangles with Kentucky in the Mideasterns at Nashville, Tenn.; and South Carolina hooks up with Memphis State and Southwestern Louisiana faces Kansas State in the Westerns at Houston.

The National Invitation tournament opens Saturday in New York with a doubleheader. Notre Dame takes on Southern California in one game while American University meets Louisville in the other.

Brockport State Moves Into Semis

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (UPI) — Assumption ran up the highest total of Wednesday's NCAA college division basketball tourney quarterfinals to join three-time champ Kentucky Wesleyan, Brockport State and Tennessee State in the semifinals Thursday night.

Kentucky Wesleyan plays Brockport in the first game and Assumption meets Tennessee in the nightcap.

Assumption gained the four-team semifinals by beating previously undefeated Coe of Iowa, 102-96. Dan Small, who had just two points in the first half, helped Assumption to open up a nine-point lead after a 52-48 intermission advantage.

Small finished with 23 points, but game-high honors went to teammate Mike Boylan with 30. Bill Carriethers had 26 for the Coe Hawks and Steve Ullrick, who had 18 markers in the initial stanza, was held to two in the second for a total of 20.

Coe bowed out with a 24-1 mark while Assumption has the best mark of the four semifinalists at 2-2.

In the first night game, defending champion Roanoke fell to Kentucky Wesleyan, 87-73, suffering some cold shooting at the start of the final 20 minutes.

Wesleyan took advantage of Roanoke's 2-for-12 shooting in the first eight minutes of the final stanza to pull into a 20-point advantage 61-41. Mike Williams led the 22-6 Panthers with 22 points while James Green pumped in 21 for the winners.

Roanoke, which finished 23-6, as led by Ajy Picola with 20 markers.

Earlier, Tennessee State won a record 23 games over a 33-24 halftime three seasons for deficit to post its 21st win in 28 Michigan State.

Three Contenders Fumble the Puck

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With a chance to make some vital progress in their respective scrambles for National Hockey League playoff berths, the New York Rangers, Detroit Red Wings and Philadelphia Flyers all fumbled the puck Wednesday night.

So the status in three tight playoff battles remained quo. The Rangers could have picked up some ground on idle Boston in the battle for second place in the East, but Chicago nixed that idea, beating New York 4-2.

Detroit, trying to fight off idle Buffalo for fourth place in the East, got no help from Montreal with the Canadiens taking their match 5-3. Philadelphia stayed one slim point ahead of Minnesota in the second place battle in the West because Toronto downed the Flyers 5-1.

Elsewhere in the NHL, St. Louis tied Atlanta 1-1, Pittsburgh topped Los Angeles 3-2 and Vancouver whipped California 5-2.

In the World Hockey Association, it was New York 5, Houston 1; New England 7, Winnipeg 5; and Alberta 4, Cleveland 2.

Jim Pappin scored a pair of goals as the Black Hawks whipped the Rangers, Lou Angotti and Cliff Koroll had the other Black Hawk goals while Ted Irvine and Rod Gilbert connected for New York.

The loss left the Rangers two points ahead of third place Boston in the East. Both teams have nine games remaining including two against each other. The victory left the Black Hawks a comfortable 10 points ahead of second place Philadelphia. The Flyers are more concerned at the moment with third place Minnesota, a single point behind.

Toronto kept it that way, using first period goals 14 seconds apart by Rick Kehoe and Dave Keon to trigger its victory. Defenseman Joe Lundrigan scored his first NHL goal for the Leafs.

Montreal bunched three goals in the third period and then stood off a late Detroit comeback to tag the Red Wings with a vital loss. Jacques Lemaire had his 39th and 40th goals for Montreal while Mickey Redmond scored his 44th for the Red Wings.

The loss kept the Wings a single point ahead of Buffalo for the fourth and final playoff spot in the East. Both teams have nine games to go.

Jacques Richard's third period goal boosted Atlanta into its tie with St. Louis and Coach Boom Boom Geoffrion credited the Flames' fans with helping his club get the deadlock.

"The crowd was the big difference for us," said Geoffrion. "I don't think we would have had near the effort anywhere else. I got exactly what I asked for out of my club. They didn't quit."

Pierre Plante had the only goal for St. Louis.

NFA Champs

SUFFERN

It was a long, long basketball game at the Suffern High gym Wednesday night, but finally, with four seconds left in the third overtime period, Newburgh's Walther Rollins broke loose on a drive that enabled the Goldbacks to capture the Section Nine AA crown with a thrilling 62-61 victory over Spring Valley.

One other class winner was decided Wednesday as Fallsburgh dumped Burke, 73-63 for the Class C title at Liberty. Two other games on the sectional schedule determined the Class B finalists as Cornwall fought off upset-minded Liberty at Pine Bush, 51-46, and Monticello survived a 68-64 battle with Albertus-Magnus at Montgomery.

Newburgh moves into the A-AA playoffs against River for the A title. For the most of the game, however, it looked like the NFA squad was playing their last game.

Cleveland Smith, Spring Valley's 6-7 pivotman, dominated the early action and paced his team to leads in the first three quarters. A late NFA rally finally tied it up in the final quarter, and a deliberate SV shot at the buzzer missed to send the game into overtime.

The first extra period ended at 56-56 and the second stopped at 56-56 before Rollins, who led all scorers with 22 points, canned his game-winning.

Floyd Emery's UCAL champions gave it all they had, but in the end the height advantage of Cornwall and its 6-10 center, Paul Bernwanger, proved too big an obstacle to surmount.

Liberty didn't enjoy one of its better shooting nights but hustled throughout the contest to stay close to the Dragons, the top-ranked small school in the state.

With Bernwanger on the bench, the Indians rallied. Tom Van Slyke converted a pair of steals into layups, and Rad Yaun ran home another bucket to bring Liberty within one, 45-44, with 3:20 left in the game, but Bernwanger returned to control the boards as the Dragons pulled away.

END OF THE LINE — Ending a career that spanned four decades in the boxing game, Harry Markson (L), 67, president of Madison Square Garden Boxing Inc., announces in New York City Wednesday that he plans to step down from his post. With him in his office is his right-hand man, Terry Brenner, who will succeed him. (UPI)

Markson Retires

NEW YORK (UPI) — Harry Markson, the showman behind the boxing showcase of the world who helped engineer the sports spectacular of the decade, handed in his resignation as president of Madison Square Garden Boxing Wednesday after 40 years in the fight game.

Markson, 67, played a key role in promoting the Joe Frazier-Muhammad Ali heavyweight title bout two years ago but it was only one among the more than 2,000 fights he was involved in as promoter, matchmaker and publicity man.

"Jack Kent Cooke and Jerry Perenchio put up the money for Frazier-Ali," Markson said, "but that fight had to be promoted. And the Garden promoted it. The live gate was $1,335,000, by far the most money ever drawn indoors anywhere."

"Harry Markson is the one person, above all others, who has dedicated himself to maintaining professional boxing at its highest level of integrity and quality," said Irving Mitchell Felt, chairman of the board of the Garden.

"The thing I'm proudest of," Markson said, "is that regard to boxing in general, when they knew a fight was going to be in the Garden, they knew that they were getting an honest fight."

Playoffs Under Way In Church Basketball

Marvin Blasts Leo

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI) —

Marvin Miller calls Leo Durocher a "free-loader" and for once in his life, Leo Durocher isn't calling anybody anything.

Durocher, who has threatened to resign if National League President Chub Feeney fines him $250 for interrupting one of Miller's meetings, Wednesday was called a free-loader riding on the backs of players, fellow managers, coaches and trainers by Miller.

But Durocher, the Houston Astros' manager, ignored Miller's verbal blast. "I don't want to know anything about it," he said in Cocoa Beach. "I'll let my lawyer do my talking."

The controversy started on Monday when Miller, the executive director of the Major League Players Association, was conducting a 90-minute meeting with the Houston Astros and the Texas Rangers at Pompano Beach, Fla. After about 30 minutes, Durocher said it was time for batting practice and pulled his players out of the meeting.

Feeney, the National League president, promptly fined Durocher $250 for violating the owners' agreement with the Players Association that Miller can have 90 minutes with each team to explain the new contract. Durocher replied that he'd resign before he'd pay Feeney's fine and contacted his lawyer to fight the fine.

Feeney, who was in Phoenix, left for Florida Wednesday night so he could meet personally with Durocher on the matter.

Miller had no comment on Feeney's fine of Durocher. "That's a matter between management and a manager," he said. "But he had a lot to say about Durocher, charging him with acting 'like a 6-year-old.'"

"It was absurd," Miller said. "The meeting wasn't underway a half-hour when Durocher comes blustering up, waving his arms and saying 'okay, okay, meeting all over, let's go.'"

Miller continued his meeting in centerfield with the Rangers but he said that while he was talking with his back to the plate, several balls were hit in his general direction.

"More childish harassment," Miller said. "Somebody was not hitting fungoes and I would guess it was Durocher. I didn't look to see who it was."

When Spec Richardson, the Houston general manager, tried to discuss the meetings, Miller said he was not about to have the issue confused. "I told Spec," Miller said, "that I thought he was afraid of Durocher and Spec just mumbled something and walked away."

Explaining why he feels Durocher is a "freeloader," Miller said: "The maximum pension when I came into baseball a little over six years ago was $723 a month. Durocher retired last year and began drawing approximately $2,000 a month, the difference there being solely due to the players and their association. In all that period, Durocher had not been a member and he has not paid dues."

"Why he should be so hostile to the Players' Association is beyond anyone's comprehension."

Congress Ready To Enjoin Fued

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress may be ready to take action to resolve the long-standing feud between NCAA and the AAU.

A bill was introduced Wednesday that would authorize fines up to $10,000 if a college athlete was banned from intercollegiate contests because he participated in amateur international competition.

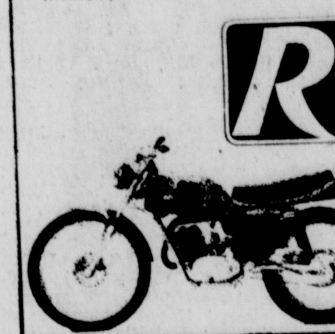

Reps. James G. O'Hara, D-Mich., and John Dellenback, R-Ore., sponsored the measure which they said grew out of the disputes over the touring Russian Olympic basketball team and a track and field meet with Soviet performers.

The Amateur Athletic Union is sponsoring both tours with plans to have the top collegiate U.S. players meet the Russians.

But the National Collegiate Athletic Association has not granted permission for its member players to participate.

Hot Line Receives Honors

WEST HURLEY
The "Hot Line," student newspaper at the West Hurley Elementary School, has received statewide recognition from the New York State TB and RD Association, and has been selected to compete with other student newspapers from throughout the United States for national honors.

The two editors of "Hot Line," Peter Antkowiak and Mary Fitzsimmons, were contacted recently by Mrs. Helen L. Davenport, chairman of the school press judging committee for the Catskill Region TB and RD Association, and told that their entry had been examined by the local judging committee, and deemed worthy to be submitted for statewide competition.

It was later announced that the paper passed the scrutiny of state judges, and was selected for nationwide competition.

The particular "Hot Line" issue reviewed by local and state judges included student-written articles on smoking and air pollution.

"Hot Line" received similar recognition during the 1972 statewide judging, the first year it entered the competition.

Florence Epstein is "Hot Line's" advisor.

Coleman Registration Set Sunday

KINGSTON
Registration Day for those students wishing to enter John A. Coleman High School in September 1973 will be held Sunday, March 18 from 1:30-4:30 p.m. On that day students will be programmed for the courses that they wish to take next year, will fill out the necessary forms for textbook loan and transportation and complete necessary details for registration.

Although Registration Day is basically for those entering the 9th grade, others wishing to transfer into 10th, 11th or 12th grade should register at this time also.

Anyone interested in obtaining more details about registration should contact the high school between 9-4 p.m.

Kindergarten Program Set

KINGSTON
In September of this year Kingston Catholic schools (St. Peter's and St. Mary's parishes) will add a kindergarten program to the educational system. Depending on the number of children enrolled, there will either be a full day or half day sessions.

Registration will be held the week of March 19 at the primary school (St. Peter's). Registration will be from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. To be eligible, children must be five years of age by December of this year. Birth certificates will be needed at the registration.

WARD

TREAD WEAR EXPECTANCY

Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and conceivably misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. We can, however, indicate the wear potential we have built into our tires in terms of service in normal family use. If a Riverside tire wears down to the tread wear indicators during the Tread Wear Expectancy, Montgomery Ward will upon presentation of the tire and evidence of date of purchase replace the tire for the then current price less the following dollar allowance:

Film on Housing to Launch Choices for '76

NEW YORK CITY — The first program of CHOICES FOR '76, a one-hour film "Housing — A Place to Live," will be shown 23 times over 18 television stations from Trenton to Hartford over the Saturday, Sunday, Monday period of March 17-19. Narrator for the housing film is Eli Wallach.

Nine questions on housing policy will be posed reflecting the issues involved in getting more housing built and saving more housing now being abandoned. The Region needs about 200,000 new housing units a year; about 80,000 are being constructed. Allowing builders more land on which to put attached mobile homes could add even more new units. More community participation in managing city apartments could save prospective abandonment. But these would require a change in the way school taxes are collected, more participation of county, state and/or federal governments in local zoning and building code decisions, and a fairly substantial change in the way city real estate markets operate. Viewing times are:

● Saturday — March 17: 6:30 p.m. — Channel 13 (WNET)
● Sunday — March 18: 12:00 noon — Channel 7 (WABC); 1:00 p.m. — Channel 4 (WNBC); 5:00 p.m. — Channel 2 (WCBS); Channel 24 (WEDH), Channel 40 (WEDW), Channel 53 (WEDN), and Channel 71 (Connecticut Public Television); 7:00 p.m. — Channel 8 (WTNH); 7:30 p.m. — Channel 22 (WNJT); 8:00 p.m. — Channel 31 (WNYC); 9:00 p.m. — Channel 11 (WPIX); 11:00 p.m. — Channel 5 (WNEW); 11:30 p.m. — Channel 9 (WOR); Channel 41 (WXTV) at a time to be announced.)

● Monday — March 19: 11:30 a.m. — Channel 21 (WLIW) 3:00 p.m. — Channel 25 (WNYE); 8:00 p.m. — Channel 24 (WEDH), Channel 49 (WEDW), Channel 53 (WEDN), and Channel 71 (Connecticut Public Television); 9:00 p.m. — Channel 25 (WNYE); 10:30 p.m. — Channel 47 (WNJU).

Executive Producer for CHOICES FOR '76 is Albert Waller. "Housing — A Place to Live" was written by Ephraim Katz and Louis B. Schlieke. Subsequent programs, at two-week intervals, will cover transportation, environment, poverty, and cities and suburbs. A ballot will appear in The Daily Freeman next Tuesday, March 20 and viewers may select their choices and mail the ballot to: George Gallup, Choices for '76 P.O. Box 7876 Grand Central Station New York, New York 10017

Role of Gallup Poll Explained

NEW YORK CITY — The Gallup Poll has worked closely with the Regional Plan Association since the fall of 1972, designing and perfecting the methodology that will be employed in the citizen participation portion of RPA's unique "CHOICES for '76" project. The world-famous survey organization has also provided RPA its full support and backing on this endeavor.

Dr. George H. Gallup, founder and Chairman of the Princeton-based survey organization, has long been an advocate of citizen participation in government and, in fact, serves on the National Municipal League's "All America City" jury, which annually recognizes unique, citizen-supported approaches to solving America's urban problems.

revision. In fact, throughout September-December, of 1972, the "CHOICES" ballots were each revised six times after in-the-field pre-testing among more than 500 respondents. This extensive testing was required in order to present complicated and sensitive issues to the general public in a way that can be readily understood by the average citizen. The Gallup Poll also assisted in the design of the tabulation plan for the "CHOICES" ballot and will play a major role in the analysis and interpretation of the obtained data.

It is the goal of the Gallup Poll, and RPA, that this part of the RPA project will prove to be one of the largest and most meaningful expressions of voluntary public involvement in dealing with the urban crisis that has yet been attempted in any metropolitan region of this nation. It is recognized that the "CHOICES" ballot will not necessarily provide data that can be reliably projected to the entire population of the Region. However, the data will prove invaluable to RPA as well as to governmental officials in the Region in planning the strategy that will be employed in meeting the major problems facing the Region. Another great value of the "CHOICES" ballot, in the opinion of the Gallup Poll, is that it will move thousands of concerned residents of the Region from a passive, arm-chair role in facing the present urban crisis to a more active role, where opinions and ideas can be heard, weighed and hopefully enacted.

● To provide RPA with a statistically accurate, projectable measure of public opinion regarding the pressing problems facing the Region as well as a measure of the impact of the "CHOICES" television presentation on awareness and attitudes, the Gallup Poll has designed a comprehensive Region-wide public opinion survey. This phase of the study will consist of two 1500 personal interview surveys of the 18 and older Region population — the first just prior to the March 17-19 Housing presentation, and the second, immediately following the final "cities" presentation in mid-May. These studies will utilize the entire statistical resources of the Gallup Poll and have been designed to: a) gauge awareness of and attitudes toward certain specific proposals regarding housing, poverty, transportation, the environment, education and the general problems of the cities; and b) to measure the impact of the RPA media presentation on the general public.

The sample for each of the two surveys was designed to produce a total of 300 sampling locations. The tabulated interviews will be projectable to the Region as a whole in terms of the total 18 and over population and by key groups in the population — race, sex, education and size and location of community.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The morning finds you with all kinds of interesting means for putting in action your plans, with the aid of an up-and-doing individual. Afternoon and evening bring you the chance to do those things which appeal to the romantic and the imaginative side of your nature, so enjoy yourself then.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Accept that invitation in a.m. that can bring you much happiness, but reserve the evening for quiet pleasure and fun. Plan the future so it is more as you want it to be. An expert can give you excellent ideas, advice.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You can handle that home affair well in a.m., but tonight is fine for the social side of life. Put more harmony into your home by being more thoughtful, kind. Favorite hobby with friends is excellent in p.m.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have some excellent program in mind that should be discussed with associates to get cooperation for it. Shop early also. Carry through later with what higher-up expects of you, and get community affairs handled also.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can do whatever will add to your assets in a.m., but in the evening it is best to carry through with new ideas you have. Consult with some financial expert for best results first, however.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get appearance improved in a.m., then keep business and other important appointments on time, and get fine results. Arrange social affair early so all goes well for you. Grow.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You are highly inspired in a.m., so make notes of ideas in order not to forget them, since later you have to gain the goodwill of an associate. Do what is required of you. Show your intellect, charm to others.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Morning is best time to get a bigwig to give you the support you need for your plans and aims. Do something later to improve your surroundings and accept that social invitation.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get that civic work done early in the day, then you have time for the pleasure and recreation you want. Do something to please a bigwig. Evening fine for creative work.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have the chance now to make a new friend, find the right associate you need for any business venture, so that both home and job are improved. Answer out-of-town letters and do some entertaining at home tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Handle responsibilities in the morning so that later you can keep appointments with persons helpful to your interests. Get the shopping done that is important. A favor for an attachment can pave the way for better understanding.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Sit down with partners in a.m. and clarify mutual affairs so you can later make improvements on whatever is of a financial nature. Get budget better organized, too. Try to please mate more.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Buy the clothing you need in a.m. and try to reach a better understanding with fellow workers. Health and charm treatments are also important. Time spent with congenials can lead to something very fine now.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those charming young people who can wheedle just about anything from others by simply using the winning smile, and so long as you teach early to stand on own two feet and to be ethical, there can be very big success in this chart because the mind is sharp and there is a liking for people and the desire to please them. The spiritual understanding is great too.

Time is what you run out of most on time-payments.

Congratulations, you survived yesterday, didn't you?

Without taxes, how could most bureaucrats be attached to their jobs?

It's nice to know you're appreciated, but most folks keep it pretty well hidden from you. If one could have everything they wanted, what would there be to look forward to?

An old-timer can recall when having a gay evening was quite respectable.

April showers may result in May flowers, but March storms result in bills for having the basement pumped out.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

CRITIC: (Comment) I am a second semester college freshman and I have been not only reading your column for quite some time but I have also been studying it. For one thing, I think it is misnamed. There isn't any real forum.

Kids write to you for advice or to disagree with you. This sounds fine, but you are the judge, jury and executioner. You are always right.

With you, premarital sex, grass and resisting dictatorial parents is wrong. Your advice is out of date, and it irritates me. All around you teens are sharing in sex, smoking grass, and challenging their parents' God-like attitudes.

Instead of counseling, you condemn. One answer you gave was particularly bad. Some kid wanted to run away. Instead of telling him of a youth hostel he could go to and find others like him, you told him it's cold out there and advised him to stay at home.

To me that is garbage.

NO USE FOR YOU IN MARYLAND

(A) Thank you for writing. Some of the advice I give must get to you. If it didn't you wouldn't bother to write such a defiant, vehement letter.

Maybe sex, marijuana and rebelling against standard values haven't been completely satisfactory to you. Maybe you are beginning to see that it IS warm at home, and that some of your parents' advice really makes sense. I hope so.

PRE-TEEN "LOVE": (Q) Someone has been writing me little notes signed "An" they called it Puppy Love." The notes have a picture of a puppy with hearts all around him. I am sending you one to look at.

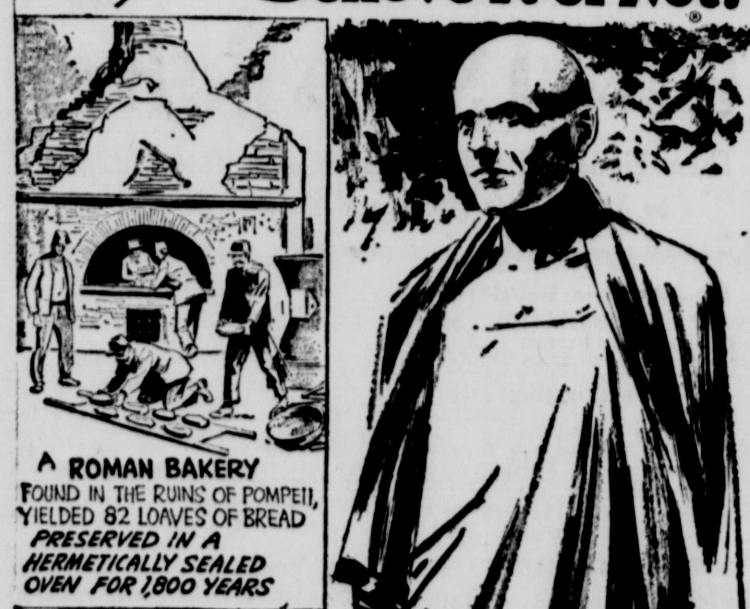

The person doesn't even write her or his name. I think it's a little 10-year-old boy going on 11 who is in the sixth-grade class across from mine. I am 12 going on 13.

SECRETLY LOVED IN VIRGINIA

(A) The note you sent in is cute and no doubt it pleased you to receive it. But don't get too excited about unsigned notes or letters. The person sending them is unwilling to commit himself. Signed notes or letters carry real weight!

(Jean Adams reads and considers every letter, but she regrets that she cannot answer each personally. Mail your questions or comments to Jean Adams, care of this newspaper, P. O. Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001.)

'Emergency' Hanging on

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — CBS-TV's "All in the Family" series, despite being video's top-rated show, has not been able to deliver a knockout blow against its head-on NBC-TV competition, "Emergency," a weekly program about paramedics.

On the contrary, "Emergency" has turned into one of the sleeper ratings hits of the season. Not only has it hung in there against "All in the Family," it has surprisingly gained considerable ground on it in the rankings.

While the NBC-TV entry doesn't have much chance at the moment of beating out television's most popular series, the paramedic stories nonetheless are further proof of Jack Webb's ability to make contact with a video audience and keep it interested.

An Enormous Hit

Webb, of course, was an enormous hit in the old 19th position, which is a "Dragnet" series, as a police officer. And now his production company is offering weekly network shows that are attracting large numbers of viewers. One such series is NBC-TV's "Adam 12," also about police officers, and a steady ratings winner. The increasing ratings success of "Emergency" is his latest triumph in video's fiercely competitive world.

Back in the area of frankly commercial network competition, an NBC-TV spokesman says: "Any place else in the family," "Emergency" would be a top 10 or 15 show weekly. And the ratings figures bear him out. For example, the national rankings for the week ending Feb. 25 had "Emergency" in 31st place, a solid showing considering the blockbuster appeal of "All in the Family."

The Latest Ratings

The latest national ratings for the week ending March 4 have "Emergency" tied for 19th position, which is a formidable showing. In the 70-market rankings for the same week, "Emergency" came in 15th. With its ratings increase, the Webb series has also gained ground on the CBS-TV show "Family," and gets a strong lead in audience.

Despite this boost, however, "Emergency" has finished only two positions higher than "Emergency" in complications that arise from the marriage of an Irish Catholic girl to a Jewish boy. It is widely believed in the video industry that this comedy owes its ranking in good part to the fact that it follows "All in the Family" and gets a strong lead in audience.

PLANE TALK — Mystery POW Bobby Joe Keesee (R) chats with State Department representative James Murphy aboard plane enroute to Clark Air Base, Philippines. U. S.

officials maintain they still don't know how Keesee, 39, a civilian, got into a North Vietnamese prison. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Food, Services, Physicals Keep Ex-POWs Up Late

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (UPI) — Food, religious service, medical examinations and just plain exhilaration kept the 108 Americans released from Indo-chinese prison camps Wednesday up late in their first night of freedom.

Military sources said today the fast rate of processing at Clark Air Base, the first stop in the road home, meant some of the men may be United States bound Friday.

The men released by North Vietnam were joined today by the final two U.S. prisoners held by the Chinese and were to be joined Friday by 32 more POWs from the Vietnam War to be released in Hanoi by the Viet Cong.

There still are 179 Americans held in Indo-china prison camps but all are supposed to be freed by March 28 under the terms of the cease-fire agreement.

The POWs made their first telephone calls home Wednesday. Maj. William R. Austin II told him she had had two minor traffic accidents since he was shot down in 1967.

"I could not remember for the life of me what he sounded like until he called," said Mrs. Austin from her home in Simpsonville, S.C.

Chris Moe, wife of Air Force Capt. Thomas N. Moe who was shot down Jan. 16, 1968, said in Columbus, Ohio she will commemorate the reunion with her husband by presenting his wedding ring to him. Moe did not wear the ring on missions and it was sent to Mrs. Moe by military officials shortly after her husband was shot down.

Navy Capt. Charles Gillespie, 44, Miramar, Calif., led a brief worship service in the Clark hospital Red Cross lounge following steak dinners, spokesmen said.

A 12-voice POW choir sang two songs, and Gillespie told the ex-prisoners, "Let us all be humble, proud and thankful for this day."

Air Force Maj. Keith Hall, 39, whose wife Judy lives at Fort Walton Beach, Fla., didn't include a steak on his first cafeteria trayful of food.

But three eggs, a baked potato, sausage, fried mushrooms and onions, hot rolls piled with peanut butter and jelly, both chocolate and white milk, cottage cheese, salad, ham, peaches, pineapple ice cream and cream puffs rounded out his first course.

"After I finish this, I plan to have some ice cream and maybe another helping of the works," Hall said before he sat down.

Maj. Philip E. Smith, 38, of Roodhouse, Ill., and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Robert J. Flynn, 35, of Houston, Minn., arrived at Clark after being released by the Chinese at Hong Kong.

Normal Processing for the Mystery Prisoner

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (UPI) — Mystery POW Bobby Joe Keesee will undergo normal processing at this U.S. military base and probably will fly to the United States with American military returnees, officials sources said today.

Keesee, 39, a civilian who once lived in Amarillo, Tex., was repatriated Wednesday along with 107 military prisoners from Hanoi.

U.S. officials maintain they still don't know how Keesee, a Korean War paratrooper with a jail record who reportedly once flew a stolen plane to Cuba, got into a North Vietnamese prison.

Keesee ducked newsmen on his arrival and a State Department official who accompanied him from Hanoi said, "Nothing really is cleared up."

Officially, Keesee is being treated as a "private civilian."

As such, official sources said, he will undergo normal processing at the Clark Air Base hospital with the military returnees and probably join a group of them in a C-141 hospital flight back to the United States.

Wednesday, Keesee ate with other POWs at the hospital cafeteria, helping himself to enormous portions of steak and eggs, fried chicken and ice cream. Later, hospital sources said, Keesee sat in the lounge, smoking a big cigar and appearing very happy.

Keesee was not ostracized by his fellow prisoners, officials said. He talked with them during their flight from Hanoi and they seemed friendly to him, according to spokesmen.

James Murphy, the State Department's deputy special assistant for prisoner of war affairs, said he asked Keesee about reports he had hijacked a small plane in Bangkok and forced two Thai pilots to fly him to North Vietnam where he was dropped on a beach.

"I made reference to it," Murphy said, "and got no response."

Two Thai pilots said Keesee chartered their single engine plane on Sept. 18, 1970, and then forced them at gunpoint to fly him across Laos and the North Vietnamese Panhandle to a beach near Dong Hoi.

In Bangkok, Prince Bira-bongse Bhanubandh, chairman of Bira Air transport, said he would file a civil case against Keesee to collect nearly $2,000 for the hire of his Cessna Wren plane. He also said Keesee should be investigated and punished for committing air piracy.

'If They Weren't Indians, We'd Have Moved in Already'

WOUNDED KNEE, S.D. (UPI) — Food, fuel and medicine were in short supply today in this tiny hamlet on the sprawling Pine Ridge Indian reservation, which militant Indians have occupied for more than two weeks.

A near-blizzard cooled off the armed confrontation between the 200 Indians occupying Wounded Knee, and federal officials, who relaxed a blockade of 300 U.S. marshals and Indian police ringing the tiny Oglala Sioux village.

Federal agents appeared eager to take control of the village away from the militant American Indian Movement (AIM) leaders who have occupied the village since 16 days ago.

"If they weren't Indians, we'd have moved in already," an FBI agent said today. "If they were something like the KKK (Ku Klux Klan), we'd have moved in a long time ago."

But a Justice Department spokesman said there were no plans to storm the settlement.

The blockade of the village—a federal trading post—appeared to be succeeding.

Dennis Banks, an AIM leader, said fuel was "down to 10 per cent" in the settlement, and the militants were down to one meal a day—"mostly beans." Enough insulin for five sick persons had entered the settlement. Because of the weather, there was no indication when supplies would arrive.

Indians and government agents agreed to meet again today for the third straight day, and Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton agreed to visit the hamlet "when they take the guns away from people's heads."

The militant Indians have demanded an investigation of all Indian reservations in South Dakota and the ouster of most elected officials on this reservation.

Morton said there was no way he could oust the chairman and tribal council of the Oglala Sioux. "They're asking us to do something we don't have the power to do and that's impeach the tribal chairman and council," Morton said.

"I'm going to go out there to find out if any of these charges have any substance to them," Morton said, but added: "I'm not going to meet with anyone with a gun at my head or a gun at a hostage's head."

In Sioux Falls Tuesday, U.S. Attorney William Clayton announced the indictments of 31 persons on charges of civil disorder, conspiracy, burglary and larceny in connection with the takeover of the hamlet.

Kidnaping was not among the charges, Clayton said. Although 11 persons were reported taken hostage during the seizure of this historic site, they later were released. Even then, 10 of them decided to stay.

Dennis Banks, an AIM leader, called the indictments "an attempt by government officials to discredit what has happened here . . . instead of indicting us, they should indict the system."

King Hussein Shows Compassion

By United Press International

King Hussein of Jordan, declaring he was "haunted day and night" by humane considerations, spared the lives Wednesday of 16 condemned Arab guerrillas, including a leader of the Al Fatah guerrilla movement.

The Al Fatah leader was identified as Abou Daoud and the other 15 were named as fellow members of the main Palestinian guerrilla organization. They were arrested Feb. 13 in Amman and charged with subversion.

In Beirut, political sources said the king's act was intended to project a humane image of his regime as well as preventing a possible deterioration of relations between Jordan and more militant Arab governments. Another motive, political sources said, was to persuade guerrillas to cease anti-Jordanian activities that endanger Hussein.

Abou Daoud and his men were accused after their arrest of planning to seize government offices and kidnap cabinet ministers. Hussein was out of Jordan at the time.

The Al Fatah leadership in Beirut denied the charges and said the 16 men were on their way to take part in an action in areas occupied by Israel.

Hussein, Amman Radio said, took the decision in response to many mercy appeals he received. He did not make it clear whether the men would go free or serve another type of punishment.

Hussein said he was "haunted day and night by humane considerations . . ."

"Sincere and honest appeals to stop the executions of these sentences came from our brothers and friends inside, and outside, the Arab world."

The king earlier demanded an end of the guerrillas' anti-Jordan campaign in return for sparing Abou Daoud's life. The guerrillas rejected the demand.

However, Hussein's message made it clear he still hoped for such a positive reaction from the guerrillas.

Meanwhile, Prime Minister Golda Meir said Wednesday for the first time that Israel would give Hussein guardianship over the Moslem holy sites in Jerusalem. But she also said Israel never again would allow any part of Jerusalem to come under Jordanian control.

"If in the next coming years, American relations with Israel are not radically changed negatively, Israel will overcome," he said. "That is the situation of the balance of power now and will remain so until the end of the 70s."

"I don't believe that we're near to a settlement right now," he said of Middle East peace prospects. "I think we can carry on for 25 or 30 years or so—so long as our security relations with the United States remain unchanged (and) at their present level."

Per Capita Income . . . New York State Highest

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Personal income per capita in New York State was the highest in the country, according to the latest figures from the state and U.S. commerce departments.

Personal income reached a level of $5,000 during 1971, the State Commerce Department said Wednesday.

Every county in the state shared in the increase in income, with increases ranging from 2.3 per cent to 23.4 per cent, the department said.

Data from the U.S. Commerce Department indicated that personal income in the state rose to $91.7 billion in 1971, an increase of $5.4 billion, or 6.2 per cent over 1970.

During the decade 1961-71, it more than doubled the 1958 figure, the federal figures showed.

Seven of the state's 62 counties had percentage gains of 10 per cent or more: Clinton, Oswego, Rockland, Schenectady, Schoharie, Wyoming and Yates.

The top-ranking county in per capita income was Westchester, at $7,643; followed by Nassau, $6,712; New York City, $5,292; and Albany, $5,167.

At the bottom of the per capita income list in 1971 were St. Lawrence at $3,067; Saratoga, $3,067; Lewis, $3,081 and Franklin, $3,108.

Between 1966 and 1970, New York was second to Connecticut in per capita income. The figures do not represent income in Washington, D.C., where the per capita rate is still considerably higher.
